

German Leader Named

Head of First CD-Socialist Power Group

BONN, Germany (AP) — Christian Democrat Kurt Georg Kiesinger was elected West Germany's new chancellor today, heading the 17-year-old nation's first Christian Democratic-Socialist coalition.

Kiesinger's election by the Bundestag, Parliament's lower house, was assured during the night when the Bundestag members of the two major parties agreed to support a coalition Cabinet headed by him to end the 34-day government crisis.

The two parties have been rivals since the republic's birth in 1949. Their coalition was generally considered a temporary expedient until the general elections in 1969, if it holds together that long.

Kiesinger succeeds Ludwig Erhard, whose coalition with West Germany's third party, the Free Democrats, fell apart Oct. 27 in a budget dispute over raising taxes to pay for U.S. arms. Both Kiesinger and Erhard are Christian Democrats.

As junior partners in the precedent-breaking "grand coalition," the Social Democrats were given nine of the 19 Cabinet posts to be announced later today.

Socialist leader Willy Brandt, mayor of West Berlin, was named vice chancellor and foreign minister.

Kiesinger cleared his last hurdle for the top job early today when the Social Democratic Bundestag members pledged 126-53 to support him. There were eight abstentions. The remaining members of the 202-man delegation were absent.

Kiesinger, 62, for the past eight years minister-president (governor) of his native state of Baden-Wuerttemberg, announced earlier that his own 245-member party Bundestag faction had overwhelmingly approved his Cabinet.

A veteran politician who resigned his Bundestag seat to take the governor's job, Kiesinger has been widely criticized for his Nazi past.

Kiesinger joined the Nazi party in 1933 when he was a 29-year-old lawyer. He says he turned against the party the following year but did not leave it. During World War II he worked in the radio propaganda section of the Nazi Foreign Ministry.

Democrats Challenged By Officials

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Rep. Stephen Burns, a Republican representative-elect from St. Louis, today filed with Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick a challenge to the qualifications of six Democratic representatives because they do not live in their St. Louis districts.

He referred to two sections of the Missouri Constitution as showing these men unqualified: Reps. Harry C. Raiffie, John P. O'Reilly, Thomas A. Walsh, Raymond Howard, Paul J. Simon and Franklin Payne.

"Under the constitution," Burns said in his challenge, "you are instructed not to seat these men."

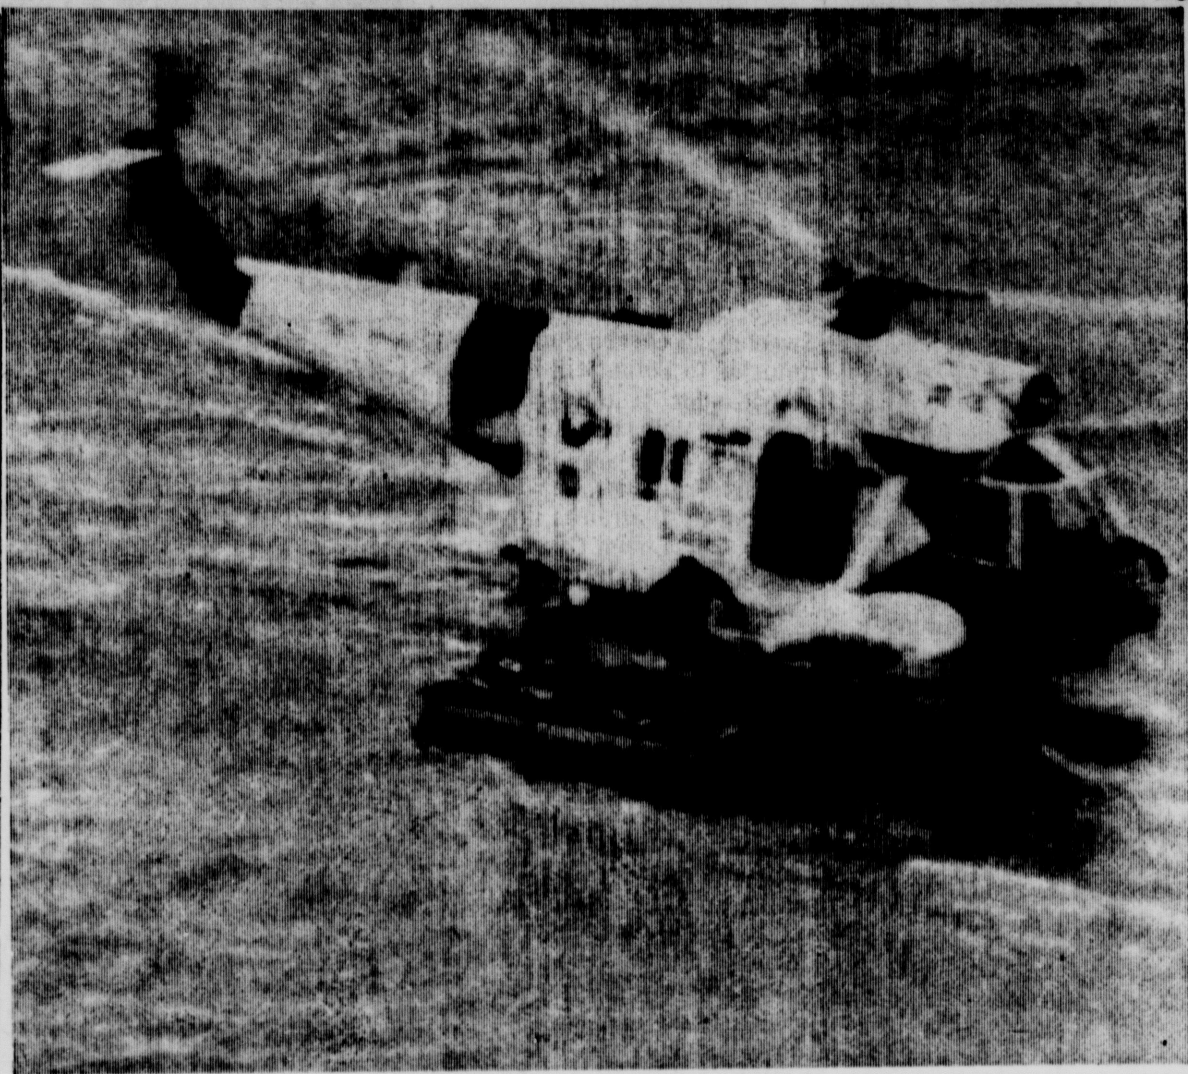

"I suggest a committee of five Democrats and four Republicans to investigate this immediately."

"The courts have held that domicile rules and they have no power to hold office if they are not domiciled in their districts."

"The secretary of state, who will preside over the House of Representatives (at the opening session) must make these rulings and he has the official power to rule on the subject."

Raiffie's right to run in his district because he lives outside the district was previously challenged in St. Louis Circuit Court. But the court held it had no jurisdiction because the House and Senate are the judges of the qualifications of their members.

Kirkpatrick said he planned to confer with the attorney general about the situation.

Old Savings Bond Account Unproductive

United States Postal Savings certificates totaling $18,919, which are on deposit at the Sedalia Post office, are now earning little or no interest for 114 local depositors. Postmaster Maurice Hogan revealed today, Nationwide, the Post Office Department is holding more than $147 million in the now obsolete program which was discontinued by the Congress on March 28, 1966.

As of April 27, 1966, Postal Savings were discontinued, and no deposits were accepted by the Post Office Department. Certificates whose anniversary dates have been reached since last April 26 have earned their final interest payment. Those whose anniversary dates fall between now and next April 26 will receive interest until their anniversary dates, but they can be cashed at any time and a proportionate amount of interest will be paid.

After April 26, 1967, no interest will be earned by any Postal Savings Postmaster Hogan said. Postmaster Hogan suggests that all Postal Savings depositors close out their accounts as soon as convenient so they can put their funds to more productive use. He also reminded depositors that U. S. Savings Bonds paying a current rate of 4.15 per cent interest, if held to maturity, are an excellent investment for both safety and income.

On July 1 of next year, remaining funds in the program will be turned over to the Treasury Department. There they will be deposited in a trust fund, where they will remain available for payment without time limitation whenever proper claims are received.

WASHINGTON (AP) — What Sen. Everett M. Dirksen describes as a very interesting struggle is developing between Senate Republican liberals and conservatives over their next campaign chairman.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, took refuge in the statement that "nothing has been settled" when asked by a reporter about what now looks like a three-man race for the job held by Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky.

By custom Morton will step out of the Campaign Committee chairmanship in January because his Senate seat will be at stake in 1968.

In an atmosphere charged with presidential politics, Sens. George Murphy of California, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and John G. Tower of Texas are being advanced as prospective candidates.

The next chairman will be chosen by the conference of Republican senators, meeting after the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10.

Dirksen has assumed a neutral attitude up to this point — a stance he might not be able to maintain much longer.

The campaign chairman's primary job is to raise money for Republican senatorial nominees and to distribute it equitably among them.

Christmas Exhibit Being Held Friday

The Christmas exhibit of creative decorations will be held Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Farm and Home Savings Building, Fourth and Osage, downstairs. Garden Club members present this show each season to give ideas for those of the area who would like to make decorations and for the enjoyment of all who wish to see them. This is a community service by the Council of Garden Clubs.

Doctors Fear Baby Might Die

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Roni Sue, the only surviving Aranson quintuplet, suffered a convulsion today and her doctor said he feared "she will not live."

"Roni Sue had a very bad night," Dr. Lee Bass, the infant's pediatrician, announced shortly before noon. "Her condition is very grave."

"Until about 6 a.m. she was doing very well," the doctor "but at about that time she had a convulsion that lasted for a short time."

"The convulsion along with the breathing difficulties that are now present make it almost certain that there is brain damage now," he added.

Then Bass, who earlier had said he was hopeful the 5-day-old child could surmount the many medical problems facing her, said:

"The outlook for life is very poor. It is the feeling now that she will not live."

About 75 per cent of Roni Sue's blood was exchanged Wednesday in an attempt to check a jaundice condition that doctors said could lead to brain damage.

Afterwards, Bass said, "Despite the risk of the transfusion, the baby did quite good and took the procedure quite good. We are hopeful of a successful recovery."

St. Louisan To Seek Office As U. S. Senator

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — William McKinley Thomas, 70, of St. Louis fled today for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator in 1968.

His opponent will be Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Bowling Green who filed Wednesday.

Long was appointed to the Senate in 1960 to succeed the late Thomas C. Hennings, resigning as lieutenant governor to become senator. He was elected to the Senate for a full term later that year.

A lawyer and banker, Long formerly was a state senator, prosecuting attorney of Pike County and Bowling Green city attorney.

Thomas once was a Republican. He has run for office nine times, including unsuccessful races for senator, governor, congressman and alderman.

He runs a credit collection agency.

Large Call For Bids On Road Work

The Missouri State Highway Commission is closing out the 1966 calendar year with a call for bids on highway construction and improvements on about 162 miles of state's highways, it was learned today.

The call is set for Thursday, Dec. 15, and is estimated at $24 million. Money-wise, this is the largest call for road work bids since December, 1964.

Included in this request for bids are 19.8 miles of Interstate system projects estimated to cost $17,500,000; for 65.4 miles of primary and 2.3 miles of urban system work estimated at $4,500,000; and for 74.6 miles of secondary (farm to market) system projects estimated at $2,000,000.

Projects including this area, listed by counties, are:

Lafayette: Interstate Route 70 — highway beautification (the planting of trees and shrubs) along a 33.4-mile stretch from the Jackson county line east to the Saline county line.

Cass-Johnson: Route 2 (C) — 14.2 miles bituminous mat surfacing from Harrisonville east to Route 22.

Henry: Route 18 (E) — 15.1 miles bituminous mat surfacing from the Bates County line east to Clinton.

Monteau-Miller: Route CC — 1.4 miles grading, culverts, bridging and surfacing northwest and south of High Point. Includes a 195-foot continuous I-beam bridge over South Moreau Creek; a 194-foot like structure over Burriss Fork Branch; and a 105-foot I-beam bridge over Medlen Creek.

Urge Caution In Leaving Homes Open

Chief of Police William E. Miller Thursday urged Sedalians to exercise additional caution during the Christmas season while shopping or leaving home for other reasons.

Miller said the usual precautions should be taken when a home is left empty. Lights should be left on and the home should give all indications of being occupied.

Besides the usual hazards of shopping in crowded stores or walking on crowded streets, Miller said Sedalians should be sure their Christmas purchases are put in the correct car.

He said the department had received reports of "stolen" packages on several occasions. And at least once, a Sedalian came to the police station with a Christmas package he found in his car — and it didn't belong there.

Miller said packages should be placed in the trunks of cars, not in the passenger area. Vehicles should be locked at all times, he said.

Women shoppers are urged to keep a tighter grip on their purses in the intensified shopping season. Professional thieves, Miller said, can empty a purse without the owner being aware of it. A good, solid hold, however, can discourage would-be thieves, he added.

The police will have one plainclothes officer in the downtown area during the Christmas shopping season, Miller said.

Rescue Forces Keep Busy Hunting Victims of Disaster

Fear Loss of 28 Lives In Sinking of Freighter

HARBOR BEACH, Mich. (AP) — Rescue forces fanned out over Lake Huron today in search of survivors of the ill-fated Daniel J. Morrell which sank in a storm with a feared loss of 28 lives.

One crewman survived the Great Lakes' worst disaster in eight years.

Cautious Approach To Medicaid

Hearnes Urges Care In Actions And Less Impact

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri urged the Assembly of the States today to take a cautious approach to "medicaid" and seek to soften its impact on the states.

"I believe that we should urge amendment of Title 19 in order to eliminate mandatory dates of 1970 and 1975 in the phasing in of that title. I also believe we should act together and ask Congress to eliminate mandatory federal requirements as to what medical services the states must provide."

In a speech prepared for the meeting, Hearnes noted the new programs under Medicare could cost untold millions and as yet no one knows what aid for the "near needy" or "medically indigent" really means.

In Missouri, he said, if a yardstick of $3,500 family income is adopted, a third to a half of the state's population could become eligible for the new medical benefits.

"Many tax sources have been pre-empted by the federal government and others are threatened," he said. "Much of our taxes flood to Washington and return in dribble too small for us to meet some of the mandates proposed without thought of our ability to meet the demands made upon us."

"If a federal law can be enacted which requires a state—under penalty of losing federal grant-in-aid monies—to adopt a program which could result in the imposition in many states of higher taxes on its citizens, then the states have lost to the federal government one of their most precious assets, self-determination, an asset they have historically possessed."

He said any increase in state taxation should be determined by the state's own people, not as a result of federal legislation.

"More and more today the states are given less self-determination in federal-state programs."

Three bodies were recovered today after an all-night search. Eleven bodies were recovered Wednesday.

All were in an area about 20 miles southeast of the Harbor Beach Light.

Gale force winds and heavy snow hampered overnight rescue operations. Enlisted in the search were three Coast Guard helicopters, three cutters and three other vessels.

The search turned up several orange life jackets and water-logged life preservers, all stamped Daniel J. Morrell. Orange-colored oars and other debris also were recovered.

Its fate concealed by the storm for 34 hours, the 603-foot Morrell snapped in two Tuesday morning and sank in 145 feet of water 20 miles northeast of Harbor Beach, a town at the tip of Michigan's Thumb District.

Twenty-nine crewmen were aboard, said John Hanninen, a legal representative of Bethlehem Steel Co. which had leased the 60-year-old ship.

"I saw two life boats launched before the ship sank," said deck watchman Dennis Hale, the survivor. Plucked from a life raft by a helicopter, Hale was clad in undershorts, pajamas and a pea jacket when found lying beneath the bodies of three crewmates who died from exposure.

An empty life raft bobbed on waves near the coast and a life ring and debris from the Morrell washed up on the snow-covered shore at the northern tip of the Thumb District.

Defections From V. C. At New High

US Reports Show 2,505 Came Over From 'Red' Side

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. officials today reported a new peak in defections from the ranks of the Viet Cong.

They said 2,505 returnees came over to the allied side in November for the highest monthly total since the chieu hoi—open arms—program was launched nearly four years ago. The previous high was 2,082 last February.

At the same time, the U.S. Command reported a rise in American and enemy war casualties last week, while Vietnamese headquarters reported a drop in casualties among government forces.

In other developments, high-flying B52 bombers pounded Viet Cong positions only 27 miles from Saigon. On the ground, fighting died down after a one-day spurt.

U.S. headquarters disclosed two new ground operations were under way involving American infantrymen.

The U. S. air offensive over North Viet Nam continued at a low pace as it has for the last three weeks because of rainstorms and generally foul weather.

The U.S. Command reported American troop strength in Viet Nam reached 361,000 by last Saturday, an increase of 1,000 men over the previous week.

The record number of Viet Cong defectors reported for November also exceeded a five-week high of 2,336 in March. U.S. officials said.

Despite the claim of record defections, there always has been some question of the accuracy and significance of the statistics. Some observers contend that some returnees are actually refugees from war-ravaged areas or impoverished peasants, from Viet Cong-controlled sections, seeking government food and care.

Fine Print On Safety Made Public

Much Tougher Code for Future Is Given Indication

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department made public today the fine print of its 23 proposed auto safety standards and hinted at a much tougher code in the years ahead.

The proposals themselves were outlined in Detroit Tuesday night by Dr. William Haddon Jr., director of the National Highway Safety Agency. The 76-page document made public today spells out the proposals in technical detail.

They range from a ban on winged nuts for wheels to brake and tire standards and the amount of give which must be incorporated into the steering mechanism.

Included in the list are several proposals already criticized by the auto industry as laudable but impractical at this time.

Many of the standards are derived from those used by the General Services Administration for government vehicles and from the auto industry itself.

Haddon said many of the standards are already incorporated into most of the vehicles they will cover.

Under law, the department must publish by Jan. 31 a final form for safety standards to be used on 1968 model cars. These, however, will be only interim provisions subject to change in later years.

The department fixed Jan. 3 as the deadline for receiving comments on the current proposals and Alan S. Boyd, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, said the proposals could be changed in the light of any comments received.

Boyd also hinted strongly in a two-page notice preceding the legal phraseology for the standards that a tougher code is to come.

Smithton Resident Is Convicted

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Three men accused of bringing 2 men from Columbia across the Rio Grande River into the United States were convicted by a federal court jury Wednesday of interstate transportation of aliens.

The jury deliberated about 40 minutes before returning the guilty verdicts against Neal B. Pratt, 36, Independence, Mo., in five counts; Donald E. Harsch, 36, Smithton, Mo., on three counts, and Jack Sharrock, 45, Independence, Mo., on two counts.

Judge Richard N. Duncan, who set sentencing for Dec. 30, commented that the defendants were "sincere but misguided in their political, social and religious beliefs."

"In all the years I have been on the bench, I've never had a more fantastic case," he said. Pratt is the founder of SHARE, a religious-economic sect set up for the international exchange of goods.

The defendants were accused of bringing across the Rio Grande Jose Manuel Martinez and Edgar Alberto Ortiz, after the two had been denied visas.

Pratt acted as his own attorney and gave his final argument in the form of a sermon. He said he had not denied that he brought the two Columbians into the country.

At one point in his final argument, he asked that "the wrath of God fall on any man in the court who could prevent the truth from being told."

Government attorneys objected to this statement.

Ruling on the objection Judge Duncan said:

"If he wants to call down the wrath of God on the court and jury, I think he has the right." Gregory Killips, a member of SHARE, testified Tuesday that he and Pratt discussed the possibility of bringing the two men across the border and what

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Vernetta Floyd, Carl Nelson

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Nelson

The Rev. Robert Werner, Jefferson City, solemnized vows of marriage in a double ring ceremony at nine o'clock, Saturday morning, Sept. 17 for Miss Vernetta Belle Floyd and Mr. Carl Ray Nelson, St. Louis, at Montauk Baptist Church, Montauk.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Floyd, Licking. The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Nelson, Cole Camp.

A branched candelabra flanked by two baskets of white gladioli and blue chrysanthemums adorned the altar and formed a background for the ceremony.

Traditional wedding selections were played by John Hillme, Sedalia, pianist, who also accompanied Erma Floyd, who sang, "I Come To Thee" and Erma, Norma and Patricia Floyd, who sang, "The Wedding Prayer." They are all three sisters of the bride.

Candles were lighted by Miss Leta Floyd and Mr. Stanley Floyd, sister and brother of the bride.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of rose white peau de soie with a soft pleated, slightly flaring skirt. The bodice was overlaid with hand-clipped rose-point lace. The bodice was styled with a scooped neckline and long tapering sleeves coming to points over the wrists. Her shoulder length veil, with tiered illusion, was secured to a crown of teardrop pearls. She carried a slender swirled bouquet of red roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Judy Floyd, sister of the bride. Attending as bridesmaid was Miss Linda Vannaman, Kansas City. They wore identical street length dresses of blue, overlaid with white lace. Styled in a sleeveless fashion, the neckline was jeweled. The skirts fell into an A-line design. Their veils of illusion were caught up by large bows of matching fabric. They both carried a single, long stemmed red rose.

Serving as best man was Mr. Morris Botkin, Rolla, while Mr. Jim Thurman, St. Louis, was groomsmen and Mr. Steve Floyd, brother of the bride, performed ushering duties.

Misses Penny and Angel Floyd, sisters of the bride, were flower girls.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a two piece rust colored dress. A turquoise sheath dress of jersey was worn by the bridegroom's mother. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception, attended by 50 guests, was held at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Holland, Licking. The bride's table was decorated with baskets of blue chrysanthemums and white gladioli. Serving at the reception were Miss Diane Pumph-

Young People Rush To Aid Florence, Italy

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Young people from all over Italy and from foreign lands are helping this historic city of books and art re-emerge as it once was.

The rush of volunteers in their teens and early 20s has impressed Italy almost more than any other single aspect of the flood disaster and its aftermath.

Italians work side by side with students from Germany, England, the United States and many other lands.

They are mainly occupied at the museums and libraries, moving the millions of books and archives that remain in mud-matted masses awaiting movement to drying sheds outside the city.

The stench of water-soaked paper and glue bindings is sickening. The youngsters sing as they lift, carry, and pass the precious cargoes into trucks.

The adult world may see their work as an example of sacrifice. But the young don't see it that way at all. For them it is obviously fun — the fun of working in a multilingual group their own age, of putting up with discomforts and hardships that challenge their bodies and spirit, and of taking part in something that is undeniably important and historic.

Judith Rosner and Joanne Newman, each 21, were language students in Florence when the floods hit Nov. 4.

reynolds, Kansas City, and Miss Martha Robison, Springfield.

For a wedding trip through Lake Norfolk, Ark. the bride chose to wear a two piece sleeveless ensemble of aqua blue styled with an A-line skirt. Her flowers were a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride was graduated from Licking High School in 1960 and Trinity Lutheran Hospital School of Nursing in 1966. A 1960 graduate of Belle High School, the bridegroom attended Lincoln University for two years. He is presently a seaman in the U.S. Coast Guard, stationed in St. Louis.

Among out-of-town guests attending were Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Hillme of Sedalia.

Friday evening, Sept. 16, a rehearsal dinner was given for the wedding party by the parents of the bridegroom, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank R. Nelson, at the Montauk Inn.

US Budget May Shoot To 130 Billion

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The federal government may spend as much as $130 billion in the present fiscal year and perhaps $140 billion in the bookkeeping year beginning July 1, government experts speculate.

The experts foresaw today expenditures in the range of $127 billion to $130 billion this fiscal year compared with President Johnson's budget estimate of $113 billion last January.

If spending goes as high as $130 billion this year, these experts said, the budget could go $10 billion higher next fiscal year. But they described the $140 billion figure as speculative. They gave no revenue estimates for fiscal 1968, which begins next July 1.

While spending is up sharply from the January estimate, the income picture is brighter. Experts now estimate revenues for the present year at $117 billion or more, an increase of $6 billion over the January estimate.

Assuming spending of $130 billion and income of $117 billion, there would be a budget deficit of $13 billion for this year.

Defense spending, including the war in Viet Nam, accounts for about $10 billion of the spending increase, experts said. Higher interest rates on financing the national debt and the tight money situation account for another $5 billion of the increase, they said.

They feel that tight money puts an added strain on government lending agencies and has forced the postponement of sale of some federal securities to private investors.

Johnson said earlier this week that he did not expect to decide until around the end of the year on whether to ask Congress for an income tax increase.

Experts said he wants to wait for December revenue figures before deciding. Then, too, they said, he wants latest possible estimates on plant investment next year since heavy spending means added inflationary pressures.

President To Name Ambassadors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to name ambassadors to Hungary and to Bulgaria shortly, following up his announcement this week raising the American diplomatic missions there to the ambassadorial level.

There is no indication as yet who the new envoys will be. The expectation is that John M. McSweeney, a career diplomat and minister to Sofia, will be named ambassador to Bulgaria, but a new man will be appointed to Budapest.

Janos Radvanyi, the Hungarian charge d'affaires in Washington, and Luben Guerassimov, the Bulgarian minister here, are likely to be elevated to the new ambassadorships for their respective countries.

In explaining the upgrading of the two diplomatic missions, U.S. officials caution against any speculation attaching undue importance to this step. It is, they say, in the U.S. interest to be represented in every country on the ambassadorial level.

When the State Department announced the changes, its spokesman said, "We believe it is clearly in our interest to be represented at this level for effective and proper conduct of relations."

The key word, officials explain, is "interest." In other words the upgrading of the missions was not, as an official put it, "a reward for good behavior." This long overdue step, the officials said, had to be taken irrespective of other problems, international or bilateral.

WITH FRIENDS—Recalling one of his many interesting experiences was Judge E. W. Couey, center, as he talked to two of his friends, John C. McLaughlin, left, and Henry

HIGH-LEVEL CARD—Judge Couey, left, is being presented with a birthday card from Robert Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration, by the assistant district manager of Social Security, Donald E. Livingston.

Reception Climaxes Couey Celebration

The reception held at the Wesley Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon climaxed several days of celebration for Judge Eugene W. Couey on his 100th birthday anniversary.

His birthday was Wednesday, Nov. 30, and 172 guests registered during the afternoon, with probably some forgetting to do so.

Sitting beneath a large picture of himself, in color, which was a gift of his grandson, Gene Bockelman, was the Judge all dressed up in a dark suit, with maroon tie and matching handkerchief, and a white carnation in his lapel, who shook hands, laughed and recalled incidents with everybody who came.

"Here is a little gift," said Bryan Howe, and the Judge smiled as he looked in the envelope.

"Every lawyer has to have a license to practice," he explained, "and the Bar Association gives me a license every year."

It was when he was on the parole board that a man was paroled many years ago, but he never forgot who was responsible. He has felt grateful to Judge Couey for his freedom and has proved that a good man he is and a good friend. He, too, was at the reception with his wife.

James Kirkpatrick, Secretary of State, drove up from Jefferson City, and the Judge knew he was coming. As the afternoon grew late the Judge began to wonder, "Where is Jimmy Kirkpatrick?" he wanted to know. But Jimmy Kirkpatrick made it, he drove mighty fast to get here, but he came in a few minutes later, which seemed to make the day complete for the Judge.

A birthday card from Robert Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration, was presented to Judge Couey by Donald E. Livingston, assistant district manager of Social Security here. The Judge started drawing his Social Security in April, 1952, and, of course, is still receiving it. At the time he started he was asked what he thought of Social Security and he replied that he thought it was a good thing.

Among the special guests, too, at the reception was a former pastor of his church, the Rev. H. U. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, from Lexington; and, of course, his present pastor, the Rev. George Sparling and Mrs. Sparling were there from the start to the close of the reception.

Among his relatives receiving with him were his two daughters, Miss Edyth Couey and Mrs. Tropha Bockelman, and nieces, Miss Edna Couey and Miss Blanche Couey from Trinidad, Colo. His only son, Lawrence, was ill and unable to attend. All over the church parlor, where the affair was held, was his grandson, Gene Bockelman, his namesake, very much like him, taking pictures and talking to everybody the entire afternoon.

Two other nieces assisted, Mrs. Effie Feuers, who presided at the coffee urn from 2:30 to 3, and Mrs. Elodie Johnson.

The table, covered with net over yellow satin and caught up with greenery in festoons, was centered with a large white cake decorated with yellow roses. On either side were three branch silver candelabra with pale yellow flowers. At one end of the table was a silver service with Mrs. Feuers, Mrs. Mildred Goddard and Mrs. Dan Robinson pouring during the afternoon and at the other end white cake with yellow roses was served by Mrs. E. W. Bartley, Mrs. Mary Margaret Seller and Mrs. John Ryan.

Behind the scenes Mrs. Mary Strole and Mrs. Henry Niemann were cutting the cake to refill the trays, filling the coffee pots were Mrs. Glenn Cox and Mrs. R. V. Miller.

Mrs. Dean Boatright was receiving guests at the west door, and Mrs. Paul Edwards, Mrs. Jack Gray and Mrs. George Sparling receiving at the east door. Presiding at the guest book were Mrs. K. P. McCrary and Mrs. E. M. Johnson, and assisting in the serving were Mrs. H. L. McFarland, Miss Ruth Burford and Mrs. Jewell Nave.

Around the room were many flowers, gifts of friends.

And so, came to a close a glorious day for a man, born in Sedalia, and who has spent many useful years in the community, giving abundantly of himself, the day that marked a century of life.

US Will Use Air Power If Truce Broken

WASHINGTON (AP)—American and allied forces in Viet Nam will use air power if necessary to defend themselves against any Viet Cong violations of the holiday truce, sources disclosed today.

These officials expect the fighting pause to be more difficult for the Communists to control than for the allies.

Consequently, instructions are being given to fit the response to the degree of Communist attack.

In Chicago, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told reporters Wednesday, "Everybody remembers last year and the violations of the truce by the other side. We will have to watch ourselves and keep ourselves in a position to shoot back."

Asked whether he thought the truce might be a step toward peace talks, Rusk said, "We

Man Shot To Death Leaving His Truck

ST. LOUIS (AP) — George Cathey, 39, of suburban Hillsdale, was shot and fatally wounded with a 12-gauge shotgun Wednesday as he stepped out of his pickup truck in Hillsdale.

Police said Cathey's 21-year-old son, Lawrence, fired four shots at the attacker as the man fled. The younger Cathey told police he and his father kept the pistol he used in the truck.

Shortly after the shooting police arrested Oris Ray Flint, 25, of Hillsdale, for questioning in connection with the incident.

have not seen any basis for that."

Officials in Washington discounted reports that American military men here and in Viet Nam universally deplored the truce of two days each at Christmas and at New Year's and four days in February at the lunar new year.

Cuba States It Established War University

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Fidel Castro's Cuban Communists have just thrown a new scare into Latin-American governments, says a report from Chile, by announcing the establishment in Havana of a new university for guerrillas. Graduates, the report says, will be shipped around the continent and to Asia and Africa to foment "people's wars."

The project, however, has a look of desperation as far as Latin America is concerned. Communism and guerrilla warriors in general have been faring poorly there. Confusion generated by the world Communist split and increasing confidence of governments in dealing with the threat have contributed to the sagging fortunes of violence-minded revolutionaries in the Western Hemisphere.

For some time, there had been a letup in Castro's program of shipping trained guerrillas to other countries, probably because of Cuba's own vexing internal problems. Now there are reports that new batches of guerrillas are ready, some reportedly trained by instructors who have returned from North Viet Nam.

For the most part, there appears today to be a feeling in Latin America that the threat has subsided considerably.

Directly after Castro came to power in Cuba, guerrilla war was something new for Latin American military and police to cope with. Since then they have learned much. The job of containing guerrillas is not so difficult as in the jungled Orient. Guerrillas in the Western Hemisphere often have to rely on urban violence and that, with a steady rise in city living standards, has tended to ease off in recent years.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of four sons (one set of twins) all in college.

After years of having our dinner interrupted by telephone calls from girls, I announced that I was sick of passing the telephone from one to another, with the cord dragging in the plates while the dinner gets cold. I asked the boys why, if they want to talk to the girls, they don't do the calling. There was a shrugging of shoulders and this statement: "The reason they call us is because nobody is calling them."

It seems to me such a girl would appear less attractive to a boy, but nobody said so. It also occurred to me that girls who call boys are insecure and boys who encourage girls to call them enjoy being pursued.

Our young men have part-time jobs along with their college and we are pleased with them, generally. But this thing about the girls bother me. What is your opinion?—WEST COAST MOTHER.

Dear Mother: So long as there are girls in the world, some of them will call boys. A boy's mother, however, can make a rule—no more cords dragging in dinner plates while the soup gets cold. The girl should be told to call back later or the boy should call the girl, which is the way it ought to be in the first place, of course.

Dear Ann Landers: What is the world coming to anyway? My 17-year-old niece, Geraldine, announced with pride that she is pregnant and is getting married next month. She wants a church wedding with bridesmaids and ushers—and her parents are going to let her have it.

Yesterday her mother told me that instead of a bridal bouquet Geraldine is going to carry a bouquet of wheat. This has been her dream ever since she saw it in a movie. Wheat is the symbol of fertility.

I say the girl has already proven she is fertile (everyone in town is talking) and she doesn't need to carry wheat as evidence. Please express your opinion. If she does this stupid thing, she will never live it down.—CONCERNED AUNT.

Dear Aunt: I agree that Geraldine will be the object of stinging ridicule if she goes ahead with her plans. She didn't ask me, however, and unless she has asked you, let's BOTH keep out of it.

Dear Ann: I just read the letter from the teen-ager who wrote her traveling - salesman father who is never home for anybody's birthday or for Mother's Day.

I was surprised that you lit into the person who wrote the letter instead of the father who really deserved to be told off. My dad is the same kind of father and I think you were wrong to defend such an inconsiderate person.

If a man can't give his family any more time than THAT, he shouldn't get married. What do you say now, Ann Landers?—PENELOPE.

Dear Pen: If your father hadn't decided to get married, what would that make you?

To tell people they shouldn't have done something they've already done is no solution. The traveling man has chosen that means of making a living and

British Farm Workers Get Pay Increase

Patriotic Rebirth Needed Says Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen says what this country needs is a patriotic rebirth.

Dirksen, 70, ruminated at a press conference Wednesday to mark the issuance of a record he made on American history.

"All I hope," the Senate Republican leader said, "is that I can make a contribution to the tranquility of my own blessed land."

Dirksen said he made a tape recording last year, reciting "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and among other things, a piece he wrote titled "Viet Nam and Flanders Field."

The tape turned into a record, with appropriate musical background. One of the numbers, "Gallant Men," already is being played by radio stations in the Washington area.

Big Day Coming For War Orphan

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — There's a big day ahead for Maria Evans, 6, so Sister Mary Ellen let her first-grade pupils at St. Frances Cabrini School talk about it.

The day is Dec. 22 when Maria, an adopted Korean war orphan, becomes an American citizen. What did the class think citizenship meant?

It means "not to throw trash in the streets," to "be kind to the whole world," to "share" and "to do nice work and not scribble."

To Maria it meant, "I can walk down the streets and say anything I want."

Cuban Refugees Streaming Into United States

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Nearly 50,000 Cubans have streamed into the United States by a refugee airlift inaugurated a year ago today, and no end is in sight.

Planes loaded with emigres from Fidel Castro's Communist regime land twice each week-day at Miami International Airport.

More than 700,000 Cubans for whom applications have been filed are awaiting their turn to come, U.S. officials say. At the present rate, it would take 15 years to complete this migration. Refugees arriving by the sky shuttle say millions would come if they could.

At Freedom House, where refugees live while awaiting transportation to new homes throughout the United States, the topic turned to those left behind in Cuba.

A telephone worker, Jose Antonio Grande, heading with his family for West New York, N.J., said, "Cuba would be left empty if all were permitted to leave."

The Cuban refugee center reported that two-thirds of the newcomers have gone to communities other than Miami, and are self-supporting. The others join Miami's exile colony of nearly 150,000. The nation's Cuban exile population is estimated at 350,000.

The United States picks up the airlift tab, figured by government officials at $750 per flight. At that rate, the year's 508 landings — no planes came during hurricanes — cost $381,000. The entire refugee program costs the government $1 million weekly.

Requests For Zip Code Don't Give Address

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Postal authorities here received 92,000 requests on blanks supplied by the post office from persons asking Zip code numbers of their friends. But 1,200 of the requests omitted the addresses of the senders.

Big Booster Test Fired Successfully

BAY SAINT LOUIS, Miss. (AP) — The mightiest rocket booster ever tested by this nation strained against its shackles with a million pounds of thrust today in the first successful captive firing of a flight model.

The S-II-I, troublesome second stage of the Saturn 5 rocket designed to carry American astronauts to the moon, was ignited four months later than was first scheduled.

Space officials termed the six-minute static test an apparent success and said it occurred within the timetable of the "big picture" — to land a man on the moon by 1970.

At 12:13 a.m. a great yellow flame gushed sideward from the booster's base deflected by a huge shield from curling back on the engine.

Generating 21,000,000 horsepower, as powerful as 90,000 automobiles, the engines made the earth tremble for more than a mile.

The sound, a dull and deep roar punctuated by crackling noises, buffeted clothing of viewers 5,000 feet away. It made breathing rougher, made it exhilarating like speeding over a dip in the road. It gave the insides of ears an itching sensation.

It was awesome. At 12:19 a.m. it ceased. There were some murmurs of excitement, but many spectators continued to stare before turning away.

The who's who of American rocketry — including Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., and Maj. Gen. Sam Phillips, director of Project Apollo — saw the test from the central control tower at the Mississippi test facility.

Phillips told a news conference that all data from computers would have to be assessed before it would be known whether the test went perfectly.

He said the four-month delay did not mean the nation is behind schedule in the race to the moon, earlier schedules had called for the complete Saturn 5 to be launched during the first half of next year, he said, and now plans call for a test flight in the second quarter of 1971.

The firing test simulated the duties of the S-II-I, which will be to ignite after the first stage takes it to an altitude of about 40 miles. It will push the 47-ton Apollo moonship to 100 miles high at speed of over 4,800 miles an hour.

Another static firing will be made in 10 days. If that one is successful, the stage will be shipped to Cape Kennedy to take its place atop the even larger first stage.

The Saturn 5, when assembled, will be more than 300 feet tall.

New Congress May Crack Down On Labor Groups

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national contractors' group, accusing construction unions of "excessive" wage demands, joined in speculation today that the new Congress may act to crack down on organized labor.

The development followed White House confirmation that a presidential task force is studying ways to protect the national interest in major strikes.

And it added to organized labor's fears that the more conservative tone of the new Congress convening Jan. 10 may lead to demands for the first new strike legislation since the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act.

"Certainly the recent elections improve the prospects of securing passage for legislation to curb union irresponsibility," said the Associated General Contractors of America.

Construction unions were the first target of an unsuccessful Johnson administration effort last year to hold wage increases down to White House guidelines of 3.2 per cent a year.

In Texas, White House spokesman George Christian said the Justice, Labor and other federal departments had been studying the problem of strikes, but that no recommendations had been made to President Johnson.

Railroad Car Tests Proved At High Speed

BOSTON (AP) — Railroad cars that will be used in high-speed runs between Boston and Washington have already been tested at speeds of 152 miles an hour, says an official of the Budd Co., which is building the cars.

Speeds up to 160 miles an hour are expected when the line goes into service early next year.

Police Reports

Two youngsters gave residents in the vicinity of Broadway and Brown, the Sedalia Police and the Fire Department some worried minutes Wednesday afternoon.

Seems a resident called the police and notified them the two had dropped down in the sewer manhole on the north side of Broadway and weren't seen again. Police arrived and speculated the youngsters had crawled down into the storm sewer and decided to call assistance from the fire department.

After several minutes were wasted around the area, and a check was made at the open end of the storm sewer between Ninth and Broadway nothing could be found or indicated the children were still there.

Later the identity of the two was learned and the information given the parents of the youngsters. It was reported "appropriate corrections" were made with the youngsters on their venture in to the storm sewer.

George W. Wheatly, 318 South Engineer, reported to police the theft of a tire and wheel from his Dodge truck, while it was parked at the above address sometime between Monday evening and Wednesday morning. Value was $10.

Sociologist Says Birth Control Here To Stay

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Marvin E. Larson of Topeka, social welfare director for Kansas, said Wednesday that family planning is here to stay and it is a great social step forward.

Larson and Dr. Patricia T. Schloesser spoke at a seven-state conference sponsored by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Dr. Schloesser is the director of maternal and child health activities for the Kansas Health Department.

Both said the new birth control program in Kansas is popular, only moderately expensive and interesting.

It provides contraceptives to the indigent and cosponsors birth control clinics in six major cities. More clinics are planned, Larson said.

"In Kansas we still associate contraceptives with a bit of sin, but remember, we didn't repeal our Comstock laws until 1963 and started all phases of our program only last July," he said.

Dr. Schloesser said the Comstock laws were implemented cautiously and were linked efficiently to the welfare and health departments. The law forbade contraceptives, abortions, obscene literature, gambling and lotteries on a puritanical scale, Dr. Schloesser said.

Larson listed program costs for September. He reported Social Welfare paid about $4,000 for contraceptive pill prescriptions for 557 indigent women; about $1,200 for installing intrauterine devices for 60 women; and about $130 for medical advice to 32 women wanting to practice the rhythm method approved by Catholic doctrine.

"So far, the entire program is costing the Welfare Department from $6,000 to $7,000 a month," Larson said. "Our family planning budget for the first year is $125,000, so we are running well within the limit."

The name Tartary today is usually limited to the area which is more commonly known as Sinkiang, or Chinese Turkestan, plus western Mongolia. Science's Foundation

Meylan, Wachholtz, Allers All Miss Unanimous Votes

All-Big Eight Football Team Selections By AP

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Middle Guard Wayne Meylan, safety Larry Wachholtz and offensive guard LaVerne Allers, all from Nebraska's league champs, each missed unanimous selection by one vote on 88 ballots and headed the 1966 All-Big Eight football team named Wednesday by the Associated Press.

Jim Mackenzie of Oklahoma was voted Coach of the Year, 32-29 over Bob Devaney of Nebraska, with Eddie Crowder of Colorado third.

Eppie Barney, Iowa State's fleet and elusive split end who smashed almost all Big Eight pass receiving records, was only four votes short of unanimous. Oklahoma's dangerous Ben Hart was the other offensive end.

Kansas State's fast, 200-pound Cornelius Davis was the leading vote-getter in the offensive backfield and was named Sophomore Back of the Year. K-State's Dave Jones, close behind Hart in the voting, was named Sophomore Lineman of the Year. Davis led the league with 1,028 yards rushing.

Bob Churchill, cool Nebraska veteran at his best under pressure, was a strong choice at quarterback over Iowa State's Tim Van Galder, who set Big Eight records with 1,645 passing this season and 3,451 for his career. Churchill had 1,136 this season and 2,734 for his career, throwing 205 fewer career passes. Churchill's 532 career completion percentage is close to the league mark of .537 by Ralph Miller, Kansas '41. He drew 21 more first team votes than Van Galder and was a 5-3 choice of the coaches.

Nebraska's Harry Wilson, the Steubenville, Ohio, stomper, and Wilmer Cooks of Colorado, both power runners and tremendous blockers, completed the first team backfield.

Ed Hall of Oklahoma and J.B. Christian of Oklahoma State were solid choice for the offensive tackles. Colorado's John Beard at guard and center Kelly Petersen of Nebraska both were strong choices.

The swift, mobile 239-pound Meylan, who blocked three punts, was placed behind Oklahoma's Granville Liggins on only one ballot. Liggins, out part of the time with injuries, was a first team linebacker choice on four ballots.

Completing the defensive line, all by lopsided voting margins, were ends Bill Fairband of Colorado and Dan Schuppman of Missouri, and tackles Dennis Randall of Oklahoma State and Carl Stith of Nebraska. The linebackers were hard-hitting Mike Sweatman of Kansas and Danny Lankas of Kansas State.

Wachholtz, a smart 166-pounder whose seven interceptions led the league, topped the secondary which included Hale Irwin of Colorado, Jim Whitaker of Missouri and Eugene Ross of Oklahoma. Wachholtz also kicks field goals and conversions and led the league in punt return yardage.

Wachholtz, Irwin and Allers were the only repeaters from the 1965 team. Two other all-league returners, defensive end Sam Harris of Colorado and halfback Charlie Brown of Missouri, might have made it without injuries.

Nebraska dominated the first team with seven spots, Colorado had four, Oklahoma three, Missouri, Oklahoma State and K-State two each and Kansas and Iowa State one each.

Don Shanklin of Kansas, who had 1,444 yards in all categories and was the rushing runner-up with 732, was second to Davis in the sophomore back voting. Willie Muldrew, Iowa State defensive tackle, was second in the sophomore lineman poll.

Traded Off Again

Knowles May Have Helped Once More

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Relief pitcher Darold Knowles, who unwittingly helped trigger the trade of the year — decade? century? — when he changed uniforms the last time, may be at it again.

Knowles was traded for the second time within a year Wednesday night, going from Philadelphia to Washington for center fielder Don Lock, and strangely enough that set the Baltimore Orioles on the trail of possibly satisfying their primary need — an experienced starting pitcher.

As soon as personnel director Harry Dalton of the Orioles heard about the trade, he tried to reach officials of both the Phillies and the Senators.

He didn't get them immediately, but he knew what he was after — pitching help in the form of Philadelphia's Ray Culp or Washington's Pete Richert — and he intended to pursue it today.

The Orioles were in a similar situation last December — only they were seeking an accomplished outfielder then. They were having trouble securing the player they wanted, though, until Dec. 6 when they shipped Knowles to the Phillies with Jackie Brandt for relief pitcher Jack Baldschun.

The Cincinnati Reds, who hadn't been satisfied with the previous Orioles' offer, suddenly perked up. They liked Baldschun.

So three days later, hardly time enough to let him get used to his new employer, Baldschun was on his way to the Reds with Milt Pappas and Dick Simpson, and Frank Robinson was on his

Covering Bullets Is Tougher Now

BALTIMORE (AP) — The job of covering the Baltimore Bullets gets tougher and tougher for the local news media as the season progresses.

After every home game of the National Basketball Association team, a poll is taken to determine the outstanding Bullet player and the winner gets a gift from a men's clothing store.

There was even more riding on Wednesday night's vote. The Jewish War Veterans, who attended the game, donated a plaque which will be awarded when they visit the Civic Center again next season.

But with the Bullets playing even worse than their 4-20 record indicates, losing to the Los Angeles Lakers 126-111, the reporters and broadcasters were hard put to come up with a winner.

In a preliminary ballot, taken while the Bullets were struggling to reduce a 30-point deficit to a more respectable margin, one vote was cast for Alex, the Bullets' dachshund mascot.

But with the Bullets' management insisting on a fair vote, Mel Counts finally emerged as the winner. That, in itself, gave some indication of how the Bullets were playing.

Counts, a 7-footer who was obtained in an off-season trade to bolster the Baltimore attack, has been spending more time on the bench than in the game.

But the Baltimore collapse came so early Wednesday, Counts was summoned by Coach Buddy Jeannette while the first quarter was still in progress.

Actually, Counts deserved the award. He scored 15 points while hitting seven of nine field goal attempts and led Baltimore with 14 rebounds, playing 20 minutes.

Jeannette, the Baltimore general manager who took over as coach early in November after Mike Farmer was fired, was disgusted after the game.

Asked if he had carried out his threat to levy fines, Jeannette said, "I'm afraid to fine them. They might quit."

Linebackers — George Harvey, Kansas; Leon Ward, Okla. State; John Douglas, Missouri; Harry Hettmannsperger, Oklahoma; Jon Soucek, Iowa State.

Backs — Kaye Carstens, Nebraska; Dick Anderson, Colorado; Henry Howard, Kan. State; Bill Hunt, Kansas; Rod Crosswhite, Oklahoma; Cal Lewis, Iowa State.

way to the Triple Crown.

"Knowles was the start of a three-club chain of events that brought Robinson to us," Dalton recalled.

Now Dalton had his eye on several pitchers.

"Our need right now is a starting pitcher with major league experience," Dalton explained. "We have a lot of kids — such as Tom Phoebus — but we'd like the protection of an experienced major leaguer."

Meanwhile, a one-time Oriole pitcher, Chuck Estrada, found his way into the New York Mets' chain when he was purchased by their Williamsport farm club of the Eastern League.

While the Knowles deal and the purchase of Estrada were the only transactions Wednesday, the New York Yankees continued to pursue shortstop Maury Wills from the Los Angeles Dodgers and reportedly were offering one of two pitchers — southpaw Al Downing or right-hander Jim Bouton.

Hoople's System In Top Form

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Football's Foremost Forecaster

Egad, friends, seldom has the Hoople System functioned more beautifully than it did last week. There were upsets galore and the Hoople Plan had most of them analyzed perfectly, including the upset of the year.

On Saturday we had a brilliant record of 16 winners, 4 losers, for an .800 batting average — kaff-kaff!

To refresh your memories, in my Turkey Day forecast I wrote, "Watch for the Oklahoma Sooners to treat a national TV audience to the upset of the year as they 'feast' on Nebraska's Cornhuskers!"

And — ahem — just as I predicted they would, the Sooners, with a spine-tingling display of dogged determination, prevailed 10-9 on a last-minute field goal to knock Sugar Bowl nominee Nebraska from the ranks of the unbeaten — har-rumph!

But as gratifying as the Oklahoma prediction was it was on Saturday the Hoople System excelled!

On the last big day of the regular 1966 season your favorite forecaster correctly tabbed Army's "fourth quarter" upset of Navy, the Miami Hurricanes' upset of Orange Bowl bound Florida, and the Georgia Bulldogs' triumph over previously undefeated Georgia Tech, who will face Florida in the New Year's classic!

By Jove, as Clancy DeLancy, the sage of Brooklyn, messaged me by wireless, "That, Hoople, is pigskin prognosticating of the first order!" Thank you, Clancy, thank you!

It would not be fair to my staff to let pass unmentioned several other sterling selections from last week's card.

The Hoople System gave you underdog Holy Cross to upend neighbor Boston College, Florida State to triumph over Maryland, and Notre Dame to trim Southern California — hak-kaff!

Notre Dame's 51-0 thrashing of the Trojans gives the Irish undisputed possession of first place in my personal ratings! It also makes the South Bend lads the unofficial Rose Bowl champion by virtue of their early season conquest of Purdue's Boilermakers, who will meet Southern California on New Year's Day — ump-kumph!

In another contest with Bowlgame overtones last Saturday, we gave you S.M.U. "to win the post as Cotton Bowl host" by topping T.C.U. The Southern Methodist boys did the job rather handily, winning 21-0!

For a rundown on the results on Saturday's card, see my selections reproduced here alongside the actual results of the day's proceedings. And now, dear readers, your peerless prognosticator will repair to his laboratory to prepare his annual bowl games forecast. Watch for my selections in this newspaper.

To Decide Title

Cleveland - Dallas Game A Possibility

NEW YORK (AP) — A long-range look at 1967 in the National Football League presents a strong possibility of a Cleveland-Dallas game for the Eastern Conference title and a Green Bay-San Francisco tilt for the Western Conference crown.

The two winners would meet for the NFL title with the survivor meeting the winner of the American Football League championship.

The NFL owners realigned the conferences Wednesday when they placed the new New Orleans franchise in the East and the Atlanta Falcons in the West. Each eight-club conference was split into two four-club divisions.

After much deliberation the owners came up with a grouping of Cleveland, Pittsburgh, New York and St. Louis in the Federal Division of the East. The Capital Division of the East will include Dallas, Philadelphia, Washington and New Orleans.

In 1968 New York will shift to the Capitol and New Orleans to the Federal in a compromise move designed to give all eight of the Eastern teams a chance to play the Giants home and home in one of the two years.

The Green Bay Packers will be joined by the Chicago Bears, Minnesota Vikings and Detroit Lions in the Central Division of the Western Conference. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Baltimore and Atlanta will comprise the Coastal Division of the West.

The Western Conference will remain intact in 1967 and 1968 in contrast to the 1968 shift of New York and New Orleans from one division to the other in the East.

No decision has been made on the 1969 alignment. The NFL and AFL are due to merge into one league 1970.

While the NFL owners worked on their own problems, the AFL owners met separately and discussed the merger terms that were agreed upon last June.

It is expected that the joint committee recommendations on

Feeling Bad Is A Help For Nance

NEW YORK — (AP) — Jim Nance must have been feeling poorly Sunday. Boston's 234-pound fullback gained only 133 yards from scrimmage and became the American Football League's sixth 1,000-yard club member.

"When I feel good, I do poorly," Nance said recently. "When I feel poorest, I do the best. I'm worried when I feel well. If I have something bothering me, I guess it makes me try harder to compensate for it."

"If I'm feeling 100 per cent, I sometimes reach the point where I talk myself into feeling that something is aching."

Nance was named by The Associated Press as the Offensive Player of the Week in the American Football League for his performance against the Dolphins.

The 133 yards gave him 1,125 for the season, breaking the record that Paul Lowe of San Diego set last season. And Nance still has three games to play, including Sunday's Big game with the division-leading Buffalo Bills.

Previous 1,000-yard rushers in the AFL were Cookie Gilchrist, now with Miami, Abner Haynes, now with Denver, Charley Tolar of Houston, Clem Daniels of Oakland and Lowe.

Miners May Rate Selves Too Highly

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Are the Texas Western Miners swell-headed over being the national collegiate basketball champions? The answer may come tonight at the opening of the 1967 season when the Miners play at home in El Paso against Sam Houston State.

The Miners won the 1966 championship last March by upsetting Kentucky in the NCAA tournament final and were rated No. 2 to UCLA in this season's preseason Associated Press poll primarily because of UCLA's fabulous sophomore Lew Alcindor.

Don Haskins, the Texas Western coach, has back his stars, Bobby Joe Hill, Willie Cager, Nevil Shed, David Lattin and Willie Worsley, but "this is the worst we've looked in four years" he said after a recent practice session.

"They think somebody is going to give them something," Haskins said. "I think we have some swell-headed players."

Sam Houston is not listed in the major category, however, and the Miners are favored to chalk up victory No. 29 in their last 30 games even if they are not up to their 1966 standard.

In addition to Texas Western, five other teams in the AP preseason Top Ten open tonight.

Ablene Christian is at New Mexico, No. 6; Albuquerque is at Houston, No. 7; Vanderbilt is at Western Kentucky, No. 8; Clemson is at North Carolina No. 9 and George Washington is at Cincinnati, No. 10.

Duke, No. 4, opens Friday against Virginia Tech at Charlotte. UCLA, No. 1, opens at home Saturday against Southern California, the same day Kentucky, No. 3, plays host to Virginia and Louisville, No. 5, entertains Georgetown, Ky.

Cincinnati Jinx Is Ended By N. Y. Knicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oscar Robertson and Flynn Robinson did their best to prevent it, but the New York Knicks finally ended their Cincinnati jinx.

Not since November, 1962, had the Knicks won a National Basketball Association game in Cincinnati, but thanks to the clutch shooting of Walt Bellamy, they won one Wednesday night. They beat the Royals, 119-115.

Cincinnati came back from an 18-point deficit early in the fourth quarter to get within a point with 2:10 left in the game. Robertson and Robinson led the way, scoring 19 of the last 20 Royal points.

But then Bellamy, who finished with a season high of 32 points, put in four quick points, sending the Knicks out of reach.

In other NBA games, Philadelphia took Detroit, 128-119, and Los Angeles beat Baltimore, 126-111.

San Diego State Tops Ten Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
San Diego State, with a perfect record in 10 games, is the 1966 small-college football champion. The Aztecs, unranked a year ago when they had an 8-2 record, were overwhelming favorites in this season's final Associated Press poll today.

San Diego State received 14 first-place votes from among the 16 selectors on the national panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Tennessee State, the runner-up in the balloting, had the other two votes for the top position.

The voters who placed Tennessee State in the No. 1 spot made San Diego State No. 2. Thus, the Aztecs collected 158 points. Tennessee State accumulated 126 on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

Montana State finished in third place. Northwestern State of Louisiana is fourth followed by Parsons, Arkansas State, Muskingum, North Dakota, North Dakota State, Wayneburg and Weber State, the latter two teams in a 10th place tie.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, regular season records and total points:
1. San Diego St. (14) 158
2. Tennessee St. (2) 126

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with Major Hoople

Favored In MIAA Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southwest Missouri State of Springfield, with five starters returning from a 10-0 title team, is heavily favored in the MIAA basketball race.
In the MCAU, defending champion Drury is a solid choice.
Springfield State was a unanimous choice in a preseason poll of MIAA sports writers and sports casters. Warrensburg State was picked second, Cape Girardeau State third, the Rolla Miners fourth, Maryville State fifth and Kirksville State last.
At Springfield, Coach Bill Thomas has 6-foot-7 Lou Shepherd, 6-4 Dan Bolden, 6-6 Don Carlson, 6-4 Phil Shannahan and 5-10 Jim Gumm, back. Bolden averaged 18 points a game last season.
Warrensburg has an outstanding backline with Sylvester Mitchell, a 17.7 scorer last season, and Ron Mooney, 12.9, plus three lettermen.
Cape Girardeau is led by 6-6 Kermit Meystedt, the MIAA's No. 2 scorer and leading rebounder last year. Dan Milligan, 6-3, started as a freshman. Chuck Davenport, 6-6, will help after he shakes off an illness.
Maryville State lacks height except for a talented freshman, 6-7 Ralph Gifford. Al Van Dyke, 6-4 junior college standout at Centerville, Iowa, should be ready after missing last season with a knee operation.

Rolla lost two men on grades and another due to illness but returns its top scorer, Randy Vessell at 13.8, and its best rebounder, 6-3 Wayne Lewis. The Miners may get help from a 6-8 freshman, Mike Brinkmeyer.
Kirksville has eight lettermen back from a 1-9 team, led by 6-5 Dave Wild and 6-3 Mike McPherson. An Indiana transfer, 6-1 Rich Hlavek, will help.
Drury stormed through the MCAU with a 13-1 record last year, four games better than Missouri Valley and William Jewell. It returns 6-4 Gail Frederick, 6-5 Jim Williams for the second semester and guard Steve Grace.
William Jewell returns its top scorer, Larry Holley, plus Wence Cunningham and Mike Austin. Don Moddix, 6-5 is the center.
Valley is led by 6-4 Don Balka and 6-7 Bill Peabody. Central Methodist returns eight lettermen from a 6-8 team and has height with 6-6 Frank McKinzie, 6-7 Rodney Jones and 6-6 Don Brashears.
Culver-Stockton's 6-3 Gary Rottman, top scorer in the MCAU at 20.6 as a freshman, will team with 6-6 Gary Ulrich. Westminster returns eight lettermen from an 8-6 club, led by 6-6 Jerry Wells and his brother Gary, 6-4.
Graceland is rebuilding with Kansas City area talent. So is Tarkio, with freshmen like 6-7 Bill Slaughter and 6-6 Tom Heidelberg.
In tonight's schedule, Harris Teachers is at Rolla, Maryville at Southern California College, Eastern Illinois at Cape Girardeau, Emporia State at Springfield State, Ottawa at Warrensburg, William Jewell at Kirksville and Drury at East Texas State.

Christmas Race Is Called Off By Marcos

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand Marcos has called off the traditional $250,000 Christmas Sweepstakes because 15 of the 21 horses entered in the race are thought to have been smuggled into the Philippines from Australia and New Zealand.
The meeting is the biggest event of the Philippine racing calendar.

Applause For Ross At A Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's a wonderful gesture I'll never forget."
The words were almost inaudible, but the crowds at Sunnyside Garden applauded the words of Barney Ross Wednesday night at the fight benefit for the former world lightweight and welterweight champion at the small club across the East River in Queens.
Ross, who is being treated for cancer as an outpatient at the Chicago Veterans' Research Center, spoke over a telephone hook-up from his Chicago apartment.
The benefit, attended by many celebrities, realized $10,800 to help defray Ross' hospital expenses. Most of it came from the sale of 100 tickets at $100 each. The money was presented by Father Frederic P. Gehring, a naval chaplain on Guadalcanal where Ross fought as a

Coach Uses Latest Poll As His Proof

DETROIT (AP) — Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian said his team was trying for the national championship and points to the latest Associated Press poll as proof that he used the right strategy in the final minutes of the Michigan State game.
Notre Dame was ranked No. 1 nationally and MSU No. 2 going into the game Nov. 19. With the score tied 10-10 Notre Dame ran out the clock rather than go for the long pass.
"Notre Dame plays in no conference," Parseghian told a football dinner audience here Wednesday night. "We play no postseason games. The national polls mean everything to us, and those who vote in the polls put a premium on being undefeated."
Former world champions present included heavyweights Floyd Patterson and James Braddock and middleweights Mickey Walker and Rocky Graziano.
Emile Griffith, current middleweight king, and Carlos Ortiz, present lightweight champ, also were on hand. Representing other sports were jockey Braulio Baeza and catcher Elston Howard of the New York Yankees.

Coach Still Has Bright Side Left

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks have lost five straight games in the National Basketball Association, but Coach Richie Guerin still can look on the bright side—rookie Lou Hudson.
The 6-foot-5 Hudson, who failed to gain All-America mention last year at Minnesota, was drafted No. 1 by the Hawks and he's lived up to expectations.
In 19 St. Louis games, Hudson has scored 307 points for a 16.1 average. The former Big Ten star meets an old college rival Friday night in St. Louis when the Hawks tackle the New York Knicks for the first time. The Knicks' No. 1 draft choice was All-America Cazzie Russell from Michigan.
Hudson, admitting "I've done a lot better than I thought I would," has seemingly made the transition from college to professional basketball with ease. The quiet Greensboro, N.C., native added, "I'm learning more each game, but then my opponents are learning

Reforms For Collegiate Sports Urged

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, blasted today the "disgraceful fraud" of college athletics and proposed a wide range of reforms.
The 76-year-old Brundage, in a speech prepared for delivery at dedication of California State College's new physical education building, particularly rapped college football.

However, Brundage, of Chicago, also noted that "in the Olympic Games we have almost reached the conclusion that sports with a vast commercialized development... cannot be kept amateur at an international or even at a national level under modern conditions, and must be dropped."

Presumably the reference was to such team sports as hockey, basketball and soccer, and boxing — all on the Olympic program.

"They have become a business and let us admit it," said Brundage. "Perhaps the colleges will also reach this conclusion. There are plenty, or even better, games that have not yet become commercialized to take their place — lacrosse, field handball, rugby, volleyball, land hockey, and so forth."

As for football, Brundage deplored the "plethora of bowl games," called for limited seasons and ban of spring practice and "red-shirting" tactics, and suggested barring coaches from the stadium on the day of a game.

"Now players can't even think for themselves," said Brundage. "They are all on athletic scholarships and have to do as they are told. It is a chess game between the coaches — the players are robots. They are hired hands, not free men. Let's give the game back to the players."

Hudson's top performance came Saturday night in St. Louis when he scored 27 points. He scored 26 recently, including 20 in the third period; against Detroit, outscoring the Pistons' rookie standout Dave Bing by 19

To Introduce Bill For Second Judge

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, announced today he will introduce a bill in the 1967 legislature to provide a second circuit judge for the 13th circuit—Boone and Callaway counties.

He said the number of cases handled in the circuit has doubled in the past 10 years and in 1965 there were 860 cases filed—the most in any judicial circuit in the state.

Vanlandingham said it is impossible for Judge John M. Cave to handle such a workload alone.

Common Mkt. Will Change England

LONDON (AP) — If Britain joins the European Common Market the changes in this island's life will be deep and subtle.

Food will cost more. Common Market farmers are guaranteed higher prices than Britain's state-subsidized farmers, and the cost is passed directly to the consumer. Britain will have to change its farm policy to conform. Beef will probably cost more, and so will butter. Most livestock prices may go up because of the higher cost of grain used for feed.

The government estimates this may boost the cost of food by 10 to 14 per cent, although the rise will be spread over several years. The price of imported fruit and vegetables probably will come down. The farmers' union warns the cost will be about $3 a week extra, or almost twice the government's estimate.

The entire British economic pie is expected to grow, and the breadwinner's slice of it should be larger. Greater industrial opportunities in a huge market now fenced off by a 12 percent tariff represent the major argument for going into the Common Market.

The big unknown is whether British firms can compete. Rising British sales in Europe already indicate they can. Of the 10 largest companies in Europe, four are British. They are ideally scaled to compete in the huge Common Market which already has 180 million consumers.

Britain would have to make a host of adjustments in tax and immigration policies. The Common Market's founding treaty provides for free movement of workers on equal terms. For women, the treaty means equal pay, long a sore point in Britain.

The average British worker will discover that he is not necessarily the best-paid or best-cared for in Europe. Fringe benefits — vacations, unemployment compensation, sick leave

Steve Rouchka Is Student of the Month

Steve Rouchka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rouchka, Jr., 1410 South Barrett, was chosen student of the month at Sacred Heart High School.

Steve is an altar boy, president of Youth Business, treasurer of the Letterman's Club, mixed chorus member, and belongs to the school's bowling team.

He recently received word that he had been granted a scholarship to Rockhurst College in Kansas City. Steve will be graduated with the class of 1967.

and pensions — are often better under other European governments.

Britain's prospective European partners may demand that the British pound end its role as a world currency. Devaluation could be one price of British entry. It is more certain that other Common Market countries will be protected from the fiscal shocks Britain absorbs as a price for playing banker to half the world.

Against this must be set another shock to the entire nation if Britain does not enter the Common Market. The British can then count on waking up one day and finding themselves an offshore island, still separated from a dynamic Europe by Channel fog.

Golf Theory Explains Frustration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that anthropologists have unwittingly discovered an aspect of human behavior which could unlock the doors to world peace is under some discussion here.

A number of studies have accumulated in government archives which show that some primitive peoples work off frustrations by banging the ground with sticks.

The significance of this activity for modern man was almost universally overlooked until a political science student detected the extraordinary parallel between ground-pounding and the modern game known as golf.

From this he has postulated — tentatively — the theory that a nation's peace-loving quotient can be accurately established by counting the numbers engaged in golf.

Preliminary investigation indicates that where golfing is widespread no dictatorship can long survive. The anonymous scientist's initial findings are impressive and are here reported for the very first time.

For example, there are no known golf courses in the Soviet Union, Red China, Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria or Albania. The number of courses in once-democratic Czechoslovakia has been reduced to two and they are primarily for the use of decadent Western diplomats.

The Communists reportedly object to golf on the grounds that it creates capitalistic class distinctions. Obviously, anyone who plays golf requires considerable capital.

Russian Kindergarten Throws Vodka Party

MOSCOW (AP) — And then there was the kindergarten which gave a banquet featuring Armenian cognac, vodka and Turkish coffee.

This cost $342 and the menu included, among other delicacies, jellied sturgeon.

The guests were not children, but men from the hydroelectric company in the town, called Mary, near the Iranian border. The company ran the kindergarten, and the staff conveniently made use of some of its funds to have a good time.

The case was one of a number of this kind exposed by Pravda, the paper of the Soviet Communist party. It urged a crackdown on the practice of holding banquets, sometimes with hundreds of guests, and falsifying documents to make them look like legitimate expenses.

Pravda reported that great ingenuity was shown in charging such things off to expenses and getting the state to foot the bill.

Pravda warned: "Everybody who handles public money, from street car conductors up to leaders of farms and plants with budgets in the millions, must show great care."

Of equal significance is the fact that the English-speaking peoples, who have a long and unbroken history of self-government, are the world's most avid golfers.

For example, there are 8,667 golf courses in the United States and around eight million golfers. The Australians have approximately 1,100 golf courses and 500,000 practitioners, while the English and Scottish countryside maintains around 1,000 courses for 1.5 million golfers.

The French supposedly have a passion for reason and logic, but the fact remains that their political history has been a turbulent one. This is not particularly surprising, since France has only 80 golf courses and around 7,500 golfers.

Jack Lemmon Forms Own Company

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A fellow has to look after himself in the movie business, and that's why Jack Lemmon has formed his own company, Jalem Productions.

During the first dozen years of his film career, the Harvard-educated actor placed his destiny in the hands of other producers. The results were often good — one Oscar, supporting actor, "Mister Roberts," 1955; and four nominations as star, "Some Like It Hot," "The Apartment," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Irma la Douce."

But in between those milestones were other films which did little to enhance the Lemmon image, though most were financially successful. He found himself cast as a satyr — "Under the Yum Yum Tree" — or as the man who sacrifices his principles to go along with the system — "The Fortune Cookie."

Now Jalem has joined with producer Martin Manulis for the film version of Murray Shisgal's far-out comedy play, "Luv."

"It's wild," Lemmon reports. "The wildest part I've ever played."

His appearance bore this out. His hair was unkempt, his cheeks hollow — he dropped 25 pounds to 140 for the role. He wore baggy pajamas, a shabby robe and sneakers that looked like Howard Hughes discards. He plays one of life's losers, a would-be suicide.

"I'm taking a big chance on this role," Lemmon declared as he puffed on a cigar stub. "The guy goes against all comedy principles: he feels sorry for himself."

"That's a dangerous thing to do with an audience; people immediately lose sympathy with a character who feels sorry for himself. The greatness of Chaplin was that he always played the underdog but he never was beaten."

"Even when he was starving, he remained indomitable. Instead of becoming defeated, he figured out how he could make a meal out of his shoe."

Business News

Presidents of 698 privately supported, liberal arts colleges and universities have just received checks totaling $117,950, L. L. Beach, manager, Household Finance Corp., 112 East Fifth, announces.

These checks ranged in amount from $100 to $1,000, based upon the full-time enrollment of the individual colleges.

Since 1956, when HFC established its annual program of unrestricted gifts, these have totaled more than $900,000. The checks were sent to all four-year accredited colleges and universities in the 48 states in which the corporation operates. In the Sedalia area, this included Missouri Valley College.

Three Teachers Resign At Knob Noster Schools

Three teachers have resigned since the beginning of the school term at the Knob Noster schools.

Mrs. Thelma Blaylock, developmental reading teacher, was replaced Sept. 30 by Mrs. Miriam Parker, Whiteman AFB; Mrs. Wilda Holland, teacher of grade one at Whiteman, resigned effective Nov. 23. She is being replaced by Miss Mona June Brown, a former teacher at Blue Ridge Elementary School, Raytown. Mrs. Joyce Rose, teacher of third grade at Whiteman, resigned effective Nov. 23. She is being replaced by Mrs. Annette Grooms of Whiteman AFB.

Jimmie Stapp resigned as custodian at the Whiteman School and is being replaced by Lawrence Berger of rural Knob Noster.

The Knob Noster Board of Education, at the Nov. 10 meeting, approved purchase of new stage curtains for the junior high building. They also voted to send Melvin Foster to the State School Board Association's annual meeting in Columbia on November 14 and 15, as the official delegate for the local board.

The financial report was presented and reviewed by the Board of Education.

Sedalia's Store Windows Filled With Many Things

By HAZEL LANG

It is always fun to go window shopping, but at Christmas time it is particularly so, for the windows are filled with many wonderful things.

One window has a large white church and beside it a musical Nativity scene that plays "Silent Night." Down the street is a store with the front of the reindeer in one window with the word "Hi" and the back of the reindeer in the other window with the word "Bye," and in both windows an assortment of Christmas ideas.

A ladies' ready-to-wear sparkles with pink tinsel and silver, and featuring a glamorous gold hostess gown and a lovely pink robe. The opposite one has the one gift that is always needed, dainty lacy slips.

There are more robes and lingerie in other windows down the street that are also attractively decorated.

And then for the holiday parties, formal of various lengths with accessories. In one window two exquisite formal, one long and one short, displayed in a setting with a punch bowl on a table covered with a pointel-tia cloth. Party bags of metallic fabric with matching long gloves in either gold or silver, and in another window an array of gold hats, and more formal in luscious shades of red and rose.

Still another window had an attractive background of brilliant red panels with large Christmas arrangements separated by panels of white and gold. Party dresses were here, too, a short one of black lace and a long one of blue. Many of the formal are of satin or metallic materials and, of course, there are velvets and other kinds inside. Everything for glamour at holiday affairs, including pearls, which seemed to be everywhere. Pearls, the one thing that is just right for any costume, any time, anywhere.

To go with these lovely party creations are also shoes, gold, silver, colors to match, and in one window slippers more beautiful than Cinderella's, white with designs in glitter.

Christmas may be for children. It may be for men, too, but when it comes to the holiday parties, Christmas is for women.

In some of the windows are plenty of ideas for men, suits, hats, sweaters, accessories and it is well to ponder over the display and then go inside the men's stores and look some more.

Always the jewelry store windows are a fairland of beauty where girls look and wish and boys look and wonder. Diamonds gleam from velvet or satin backgrounds, gold and silver shines in the light, and crystal sparkles.

Glassware, so popular for gifts, is in many windows, and in one window a little red glass sleigh is filled with holiday greens.

Holiday windows filled with ideas for gifts for everyone, wishing windows, for gifts that we might find under the Christmas tree.

"STOP KILLING YOURSELF"

Abdominal Support

FOR LONGER LIFE

Why do widows outnumber widowers? To the traditional team of work and worry, long branded the guilty pair, weight has been so strongly linked by science that dieting, once a woman's pastime, has become a male preoccupation.

And now comes evidence that it isn't just the paunch, but the sag, that brings on the pallbearers—that the girdles that give the ladies their girlish figures may also be extending their lives.

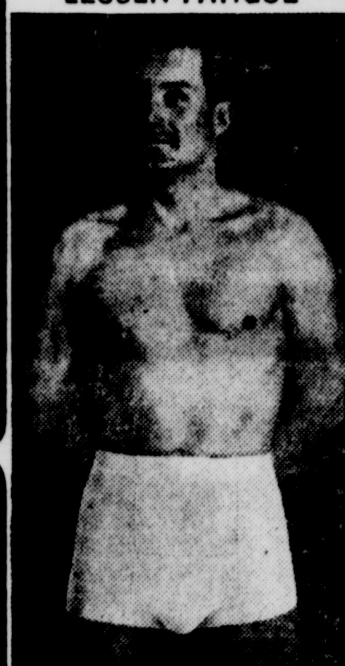

The idea that control under shorts, tightening the abdominal muscles and expanding the chest, improve not merely appearance but health isn't exactly a new one. Long before modern drugs came on the market, doctors prescribed abdominal belts for men with heart ailments.

But new research, reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, tends to show that the new drugs may be no more effective than the old-fashioned belt—or the modern control shorts. Scripps Institute scientists found that "application of the belt previous to exercise reduced or prevented the abnormal postexercise increase in the amplitude of the A-wave of the apex cardiogram," just as popularly prescribed glyceryl trinitrate.

How do control shorts help the heart? One famed medical writer, Dr. F. J. Stohrman, writes that it helps the circulation of the blood, and "thereby takes an unnecessary load off the heart. And when one multiplies this by the heartbeats which add up to a few billion in the normal lifetime, one can understand how a simple abdominal support might add years to a man's life."

Many doctors are suggesting the increasingly popular new types of men's control shorts to their patients, and finding back and breathing as well as circulation benefits. The most popular type, Mandate, "undervest that slims," meets the Medical Journal's prescription of a belt "tightly applied to the abdomen in such a manner that it does not disturb the patient's respiration or produce discomfort."

Studio 67 Memorial To Marilyn

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — At the outset of Wednesday night's "Legend of Marilyn Monroe" on ABC, John Huston, who directed her last film, read these florid sentences:

"Behind the grotesque sex goddess of the Hollywood glamour factory, the public recognized a more human figure — the game loser trying to beat the odds. But the real Marilyn forever remained shadowy and elusive, even to Marilyn."

But for the next hour we were regaled with film clips, news-reel shots, still photographs, snapshots and personal recollections — even by her first husband — that traced Marilyn's short, unhappy life from a cruel childhood to the final days in 1962 when she lost her battle against mental illness.

The program was guilty of the very thing that Huston criticized as we saw a newsreel shot of a jostling press conference at which the star's attorney announced the end of her marriage to Joe DiMaggio and Miss Monroe, silent and tearful, stood by.

"It," said Huston, meaning communications media, "will invade the last chamber of privacy, treat anguish as a charade, demand a quote from the dead."

Miss Monroe's fame, glamor and dramatic death probably will bolster the dreary ratings of ABC's "Stage 67" series, but the hour seemed at best a superficial and vulgar rehash of a tragedy.

NBC's Bob Hope Theatre, television's only other anthology series, deserves more attention "The Fatal Mistake" was the kind of murder tale — all very British — that one might have encountered in the good old "Alfred Hitchcock Hour." The story centered on a merry, boyish and very evil blackmailer who pushed one of his victims too far.

The poor victim, a man with a loving wife, pretty daughter, a dark secret and a convenient collection of reptiles, finally dispatched his tormenter with the help of a deadly adder. Of course, there was a surprise ending, since in television, crime is never allowed to pay.

Roddy McDowell was superb as the bad guy who brought roses and perfume to the family of his victim.

NEW YORK—Dr. Karl Kordes, a scientist with Union Carbide Corp., demonstrates a unique motorbike, which was developed under his direction, on New York's Park Avenue. Powered by a hydrazine-air fuel cell system, the machine produces no exhaust and is extremely quiet, which could be a boon in our noisy, smog-inflicted cities. The motorbike can do 25 miles an hour and has a cruising range of 200 miles on a gallon of hydrazine. (UPI)

Whittier PTA Observes Dad's Night

Dad's Night was observed by the Whittier PTA Thursday evening, Nov. 17, at which Leo Lewis, a local comedian, entertained with a humorous program. He was introduced by the Dad's Night chairman, the Rev. Marvin Nobles. The fifth, sixth and seventh grades, under the direction of Donald Reynolds, presented a physical fitness program which consisted of rope climbing, tumbling, cart-wheels, push-ups and various other exercises. Approximately 100 youngsters participated. They also square danced with Miss Laurie Fingland as narrator. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Ed Worley, president, and door prizes were awarded to two of the dads, Bill Martin and Kenneth DeHaven. The devotional was presented by Mrs. Nobles and the youth choir of New Hope Baptist Church.

Rusty Moore and Ronnie Martin led the group in the pledge of allegiance. Mrs. Edith Donath took the room count with awards going to rooms taught by Mrs. Opal Kindred and Donald Reynolds. Mrs. William Roe, member-

Easy On the Drunk Drivers

Every now and then someone stumbles on quaint irregularities in Missouri statutes enacted by the Legislature.

A contradiction of recent vintage was disclosed by Attorney General Norman H. Anderson pertaining to the Missouri Suspension and Revocation Law, when he ruled that courts granting limited driving privileges under this law must require that the convicted person show proof of financial responsibility and a certified copy of his driving record for the preceding five years.

Now listen to this: Anderson also ruled that these requirements do not apply to a driver whose license was suspended or revoked for conviction under the Driving While Intoxicated Law.

This sounds utterly stupid but is no reflection on the Attorney General. It would seem the onus is on recent Legislatures and their research staffs.

What these two different laws mean is that a convicted drunken driver doesn't have to show proof of financial responsibility to obtain limited driving privileges, whereas, the fellow who was sober and got in trouble under the Suspension Revocation Law has to prove his financial responsibility in order to gain limited driving privileges.

Who is the greater risk to others on the highway? The drunk who is responsible for so much of the carnage? Should he be allowed to get behind the wheel again without providing financial responsibility to pay in part for subsequently killing others.

Yet some courts have been granting limited driving privileges without requiring proof of driver financial responsibility. Clearly that was not the intent of the Legislature. But the joker is there.

Taking a driver's license away from him no doubt works a great hardship especially if he must use his motor vehicle earning a livelihood. But if a sober fellow is required to produce documents of financial responsibility, certainly the driver convicted of intoxication should be made to do the same.

The trouble seems to be that these two laws—the Driving While Intoxicated Law and the Suspension and Revocation Law—are specifically separated. Thus a driver convicted of drunkenness can be given more consideration than a sober one who gets into trouble.

These contradictions are inexplicable to us. They suggest that our area representatives and senators in the 1967 session of the Legislature make it their responsibility to effect necessary changes for elimination of existing discrepancies and inequities.

The times call for tightening up on the financial responsibility laws as they relate to the granting of limited driving privileges.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Israel-Arab Dispute Could Spark War

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — Despite the U.N. censure against Israel, American diplomats have reported to the State Department that the situation along the Arab-Israeli border continues ominous in the extreme. There is a line-up of troops, tanks, planes and missiles on each side which, if unleashed, would churn up the sands of the Near East as never since the days of Herod's chariots.

There is grave doubt, furthermore, that a war could be contained in this area. It would spread to the entire Arab world, might cause the USA and USSR to choose sides.

Here is the line-up of military might at this crossroads of the Near East:

Tanks — The Soviet has sent 2,500 tanks to the Arab states, of which 500 are T-54S, just as powerful as the American M-60S and considerably more powerful than the American M-48S.

Against this, Israel has about 600 tanks, chiefly M-4 Sherman, some Centurions, and a few M-48S. In the past, the Israeli army has been able to outmaneuver and outgun its Arab opponents. However, the inescapable fact is that Israel is outnumbered in tanks about four to one.

Air Power — The Soviet has sent about 150 PX bombers to the Arab States, chiefly Ilyushin 28S, of which 120 are flown by Egyptians. Since Israel is a small country, no bigger than Massachusetts, with long borders completely surrounded by Arab neighbors, this is considered an ample force to bomb any and every Israeli city—if war comes.

In addition, the Arab States are well equipped with the latest Soviet fighter planes, the MIG-19S and MIG-21S. The total Egyptian air strength is estimated at 500 planes, including 52 MIG-21S, 80 MIG-19S, 60 transport planes and 40 helicopters.

Israel has about 450 aircraft, including 75 Mirage fighters equipped with Matra air-to-air missiles, considered the latest thing in French fighters. It also has 55 Ouragon fighter-bombers, one squadron of transport planes supplied by the United States, one squadron of helicopters and 60 Magister jet trainers.

Brink Of War
In any showdown with the Arab States, Israel would have to depend on lightning attacks before the other side was ready—as happened in the Suez War. This is one reason the present situation is so dangerous. War can start in a few minutes, if one side gets nervous.

Missiles — Russia has now delivered to Egypt 14 fast patrol boats of the Komar class plus four of the OSA class, each carrying missiles somewhat on the order of our Polaris set-up except that they are not nuclear. They have a range of 20 miles, and since Israel is long and narrow, with depth in one place of only seven miles, these patrol boats could do tremendous damage in case of war.

In addition, the ex-Nazi scientists whom Nasser has imported from Germany have now developed several important long-range missiles for the Egyptian army. They include Al Zafir, which carries a 1,000-pound warhead and has a range of 235 miles; also Al Kahir with a similar warhead and a range of 375 miles; also Al Araf with a one-ton warhead and a range of 1,000 miles.

Egypt is reported to have around 300 missiles and a known missile force of 4,500 men.

Israel now has the Hawk surface-to-air missile, but has nothing to compare with Egypt's huge missile arsenal.

In a long war, however, the Arab world would have a tremendous advantage.

Israel's Chief of Staff
When in Israel this year I discussed Israel's defenses with Maj. Gen. Isaac Rabin, the Army Chief of Staff, who said that modern weapons had made Israel's defense even more difficult than during the Suez crisis years ago. Showing me a map of the Near East, he pointed to Israel's 610 miles of border, its population of 2,500,000 against 50,000,000 Arabs, and the fact that in one spot Israel's Eastern border is only seven miles from the sea. Bombers from nearby Jordan, therefore, could reach Tel Aviv in four and a half minutes.

Cairo has been brought so close to Tel Aviv by supersonic jets that it would take only nine minutes for a bomber to fly from Cairo to the No. 1 city of Israel, and only four minutes from the border of Egypt to Tel Aviv.

Thus there is an enormous advantage to the nation which takes the initiative in war. This is the chief danger in the Near East today.

Labor's Program
Labor leaders have been reassessing their legislative strategy since the election. They have definitely decided to abandon their efforts to repeal right-to-work laws, to revise further the Taft-Hartley Act, or to change the unemployment compensation program.

AFL-CIO's strategy will be to hold the line against any anti-labor legislation. Labor leaders plan to go on the defensive when the new Congress convenes.

Their biggest fight, they believe, will be to block compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. Quick labor lobbying at the Capitol and the White House sidetracked a bill to compel arbitration of the recent airplane mechanics strike. There will be new compulsory arbitration proposals in the next block passage.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Construction has begun on a new home for the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., of Sedalia, on the east side of Highway 65 at Eleventh street. The building, according to W. C. Ream, manager, will be an 80 x 120 foot brick and tile structure and will be completely equipped and ready for use about May 1.

FORTY YEARS AGO
William "Mugs" Schrader, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schrader, 715 West Third street, has been promoted to the position of assistant superintendent of Vickers Petroleum and Refining Co., at Potwin, Kansas, and becomes the youngest person to hold such a position with a refining company in the United States.

The World Today

Budget, Public Opinion An LBJ Worry

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — That was a shocker, that hint of a $140 billion federal budget for next year, a jump of $27 billion over the almost $113 billion budget President Johnson asked for this year.

If you were fiddling with the budget, as Johnson is, you'd need more than just an adding machine. You'd need a good public relations staff too. Johnson, always aware of what public relations men call a good image, has been a pretty good public relations staff himself, at least on budgets and spending. He's still working at it.

One of his first tasks when Congress returns in January is to submit his budget, that fantastic itemized list of how much he thinks the government must spend in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967.

Down in Texas, where he is working while recovering from his recent operations, his biggest single problem between now and January will be getting the budget ready.

But he never forgets the image he wants to create — that of a thrifty president, running around chopping at dollar signs — as he has demonstrated in the past and is doing again.

For days the news from Texas has been telling how Johnson has been wrestling with government spending.

Only Tuesday he told newsmen that federal programs totaling $5.3 billion were being canceled or delayed in the current fiscal year ending June 30, for which his budget had been about $113 billion.

He said a whole bunch of advisers had recommended cuts, and that congressional leaders of both parties are all for cutting, which may have been intended to take some heat off him.

While a president gets massacred by critics if he calls for big spending, he also hears endless cries of pain from that part of the citizenry which is affected by cuts in spending.

Wednesday night out of Texas came a story quoting unnamed "experts" as predicting that maybe next year's budget will soar from this year's $113 billion to an American record budget of $140 billion.

Of course, this wasn't Johnson saying it. This was some "experts." You can imagine how thrifty he will look if, when he comes up with his budget, it turns out to be less than that $140 billion the "experts" talked about.

Expenses, of course, are going up: the country and the government keep getting bigger, and there's the Vietnamese war to pay for. But just boosting the budget isn't the only thing Johnson has to think about.

For months he's been juggling the idea that maybe an income tax increase is needed. The aim would be to fight inflation by leaving the people with less money to spend. And the government will need money to finance a budget of $140 billion.

It's just possible that, after hearing $140 billion may be the necessary budget and finding that Johnson wiggled and wangled to get it down to perhaps only $135 billion, taxpayers may grunt and groan a little less about a tax increase.

But it has been a long time since the country took such a big budget jump as is suddenly being talked about now. The last time was back in the days of President Harry S. Truman and the Korean War.

Early in 1950, just six months before that war began, his budget was only $42.5 billion. The next year it shot up to $71.5 billion, the next to $85.5 billion, a boost of $43 million. Then it tapered off.

Even so, Johnson would look like more of an economist than Truman with a $27 billion boost.

We don't know whether today's hand should qualify as strategy in bridge or just highway robbery. South was the late Fred Kaplan, a brilliant lawyer and avid bridge player who believed that the element of surprise would win both lawsuits and bridge tournaments.

Fred's two no-trump call illustrates the element of surprise. Any other good player would respond two clubs or maybe one heart and try to steer eventual no-trump play to his partner, but not Fred. He liked to play all hands and he hoped that he would get the benefit of a heart or club lead if he concealed strength in both suits.

Such hopes are usually ill-founded. Somehow or other opponents lead their best suits which are likely to be your worst and West opened the five of spades.

Fred looked over dummy and studied the opening lead. It was surely fourth best which meant that West held four, five or six spades and that East would hold at least three. The situation looked hopeless. Fred could run eight tricks but that would be all.

He could accept one down if he wished but Fred was not a man to accept one down. He saw one chance to make his contract. It will risk a set of several tricks but Fred didn't care.

He won the first spade trick with dummy's ace and led the jack of hearts. What would you do if you were East? This East assumed that Fred had the king of spades and played low. Fred hopped up with his king. It held and his one down had been changed to game made.

Author And His Character

Stout Marks His Birthday As Nero Remains Ageless

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — It would take a considerable metamorphosis for spare, gray-haired, white-bearded author Rex Stout to become the overweight, dark-haired, clean-shaven Nero Wolfe whose adventures in criminology have been the subject of 40 of Stout's published works.

In the first place, Nero Wolfe, despite 32 years of literary detecting, is ageless.

Rex Stout celebrates his 80th birthday today, and is marking the occasion by beginning a new Nero Wolfe story.

Writing the book will take the usual 39 days Stout neither re-reads nor rewrites. Allowing for time out for the holidays, the book will be published, according to Stout, on May 9 or 10.

Both Stout and Nero Wolfe credit a good part of their success to logical thinking. Stout describes logical thinking as the ability to consider a problem without introducing the extraneous.

He ascribes this ability — ergo, Wolfe's — to an arrangement "somewhere in my head."

He holds this same arrangement responsible for the fact that by the time he was 10, he had read the 1,200 books in his parents' library.

His sister, author and gardening expert Ruth Stout, says Rex began to read when he was 18 months old.

"I rather doubt that," says Stout, "but I do remember that after I was 2, I started saving my money to buy my mother a gift. On my third birthday, I gave her a book."

Born in Noblesville, Ind., Dec. 1, 1886, Stout states unequivocally that he left Indiana at the age of 1. "because I was fed up with Indiana politics." He grew up near Topeka, Kan.

His appearance belies statistics. He neither looks nor acts his 80 years. He is keen and vital, and exudes a lusty masculinity. Stout's biographical data says he has been, successively, an office boy, store clerk, bookkeeper, sailor, hotel manager, inventor of the school thrift system — adopted by schools in 432 cities in the United States — and author.

In addition to writing 54 books in the past 36 years, Stout was master of ceremonies for the "Speaking of Liberty" radio programs in 1941 and the "Voice of Freedom" programs in 1942.

Devotees of Nero Wolfe will find contradictions and similarities between the fictional Wolfe and the factual Stout.

Does Stout, like Wolfe, admire orchids? "No. They are not my favorite flower," Stout grows 192 varieties of tall, bearded iris. He also grows numerous varieties of day lilies, vegetables and fruits.

Unlike Wolfe, Stout spends a great deal of time outdoors. In Winter, he enjoys playing chess and tending his plants. Like Wolfe, Stout enjoys good food and its preparation. He cooks dinner about three times a month at Highmeadow, the estate straddling Danbury and Brewster, N.Y., where he has lived for the past 36 years.

Stout's wife, Pola, is a textile designer. He has two married daughters.

are nothing but somebody else's losses. Year-end selling is often for tax purposes — to establish losses that can be written off tax payments.

Forced to sell because their stocks have taken big losses during the year, the losers can depress prices even more. At this point the smart trader steps in to snap up bargains.

Several months ago one of the nation's largest builders forecast a drop in housing starts to an annual rate of 800,000 by early 1967. Since housing already was depressed at more than a million starts, the figure was difficult to believe. In October, however, the rate dropped to 848,000 — a 20-year low.

Johnson's first move was to suspend the 7 per cent investment tax credit that some economists said was making it too easy for business to continue spending. Such spending, they said, was inflationary.

This week, Johnson announced plans to cancel or delay $5.3 billion in federal programs for the present fiscal year, the purpose being to relieve inflationary pressure placed on the economy by heavy federal spending.

Johnson also moved in another direction. Because high interest rates and a money shortage were depressing the housing market, the President freed $250 million in funds to help finance mortgages of 15,000 new homes.

Johnson says now he will decide by the end of the year whether to ask for an income tax increase.

Rallies and demonstrations being in vogue this year, Wall Street is talking now about having one of its own — a year-end rally. It may or may not come, for the market is not a faithful friend. However, stock prices usually rise in December.

Expectations of the year-end rally begin invariably soon after the optimists give up waiting for the late summer rally. It is a yearly event that ties in curiously with childhood expectations of gifts at Christmas.

There is to it, however, a sad aspect. Many of the bargains

Democrat Pick-ups

It wasn't exactly the kind of gift father had in mind for his wife when he told their daughter to pick out the birthday gift that they were going to buy together. He had expected her to buy some kind of clothes, but the daughter brought home candlesticks.

Mother, of course, thought they were lovely, but when she tried to put the candles in they didn't fit. They tried and tried to get the candles in but they were too big, so they knew that something must be wrong, and the thing to do was to take them back to the store.

Showing the man how the candles didn't fit and telling him they must have the wrong candles, he began to laugh. He merely turned the candlestick upside down and the candle fit perfectly.

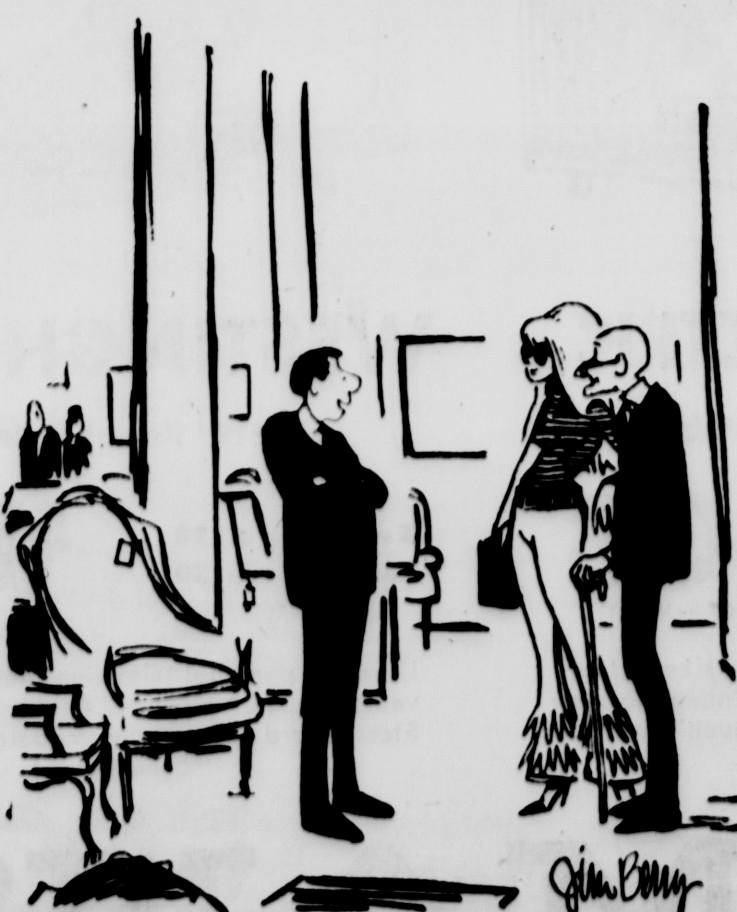

The only thing that was wrong was that they were trying to fit the candles in the bottom of the candlestick instead of the top. — H. L.

Christmas—A Food Festivity
Holiday festivity dates back to Saturnalia, a Roman feast, celebrated in mid-December. Down through the centuries it has provided the model for many of the merry-making customs of Christmas.

What better way to begin the holiday season, than to show hospitality through cakes?

Early Fruit Cakes of the Western World were made from yeast-leavened doughs to which fruit was added. In Norman England, a fruit cake containing raisins or dried grapes (plums) was known as "Plumb" Cake. Some authorities feel that our fruit cake evolved from these Norman confections.

In the Netherlands, it is said that Saint Nicholas along with his servant, Zwart Piet, lived in Spain and on Christmas Eve would fly to Holland on a spirit-type steed. They flew above the house tops, and dropped pepernoten (Hard round spice cake) to all the children.

Baking MAGI Cakes is an old Italian custom. They are used in place of Christmas cards, and are exchanged between friends. . . "the better the friend, the bigger the cakes — so good friends wake up with tummy aches."

In Paris, the big celebration is Twelfth Night (Fete des Rois). A huge cake is served in which a china bean has been hidden and "the finder is King of the Jubilee . . . or Queen as the case may be."

In Romania, every household has a special Christmas cake, "turtite." It is made of many layers of a dough similar to cookie dough, divided by melted honey and nuts.

To include other favorite dishes:

Christmas in Greece is celebrated in highly religious fashion. The traditional food is "Christ Psamo" (Christ's Bread).

The Christmas table in Czechoslovakia honors young Roast Pig. One chair is kept vacant for the Christ Child.

French-Canadians serve PORK PIE eaten with a sweet relish which comes directly from the cellar shelves, accompanied by large cups of strong coffee, or little glasses of black currant wine, a satisfying course of the festivities following their Mid-night Mass.

In Polish households, fresh CARP is the "Particular" dish, baked and covered with a well-spiced black sauce made with gingersnaps, for which each household has its own recipe.

The Germans have added much to our Christmas sweets. The many cookies, LEBUCKEN, the PFEFFERNUSS (or to us the breakfast stollen), all are woven into a pattern which is now American.

It may be interesting to know that:

Lithuanians and Poles covered their Christmas Eve dinner table with straw and chaff. Under each plate an unconsecrated host is placed in order to symbolize Christ in the manger, and the love and good will of the season.

In Russia, the country of our

St. Nicholas, it is the custom to fast on Christmas Eve until after the first church service. The older generation in Russia have traditional family foods, but there is no gaiety.

In Yugoslavia, the Croats and the Servians plant wheat in a plate on December 10. By Christmas it has sprouted into a miniature wheat field that is then used as a centerpiece for each home's Christmas table.

In the fair country of Sweden, holiday guests are offered the very best of hospitality — a HOG (or mountain of goodies). The traditional seven kinds of sweets are offered.

In Armenia, boiled spinach is eaten because it is believed that Mary ate this the night before her Son was born.

In Chile, MONKEY'S TAIL, a cold beverage composed of alcohol, coffee, milk and egg, is served.

In sixteenth century England, glasses were raised in real toast to the Yuletide because after the acknowledgement each would pop a piece of toasted bread into his wine and literally "drink a toast."

MARKET TRENDS
MEATS — Pork prices have eased somewhat this week — Boston butts are the best buy, fresh hams are good value, and loins and ham are down slightly in price from last week.

Beef prices are slightly stronger this week, but this increase will probably not change the retail prices.

Veal and lamb prices have not changed recently. There is an ample supply, and not much demand for them.

Fryers continue to be a good buy.

The wholesale prices of turkeys are higher than they were at Thanksgiving, but most stores had purchased their turkeys before that time. There may be a slight increase in the turkeys for Christmas.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges (except the large navel), grapes and pears are good buys. The good buys in vegetables are carrots, cabbage, celery, yellow onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes, radishes, green onions, rutabaga, turnips and winter squash.

NONFAT DRY MILK

Homemakers who have used economical nonfat dry milk for any length of time no doubt have noticed that it is far improved today over its quality when it first appeared on food store shelves. This is due to constant research to improve the product. Top quality nonfat dry milk can be identified by the shield-shaped design on the package in which are the words "U. S. Extra Grade" . . . U. S. Standard Grade is assigned to good, but lower quality milk.

INSTANT NONFAT DRY MILK is fresh pasteurized milk from which only the fat and water have been removed; it contains all of the B-vitamins, protein, calcium and phosphorus of whole milk . . . Instead nonfat dry milk is one of the least expensive, yet most concentrated sources of protein, calcium and riboflavin . . . Instant nonfat dry milk saves valuable space in modern compact kitchens. It's so concentrated, it takes little cupboard space and no previous refrigerator space.

BUYING TIPS—Less expensive than fluid or evaporated milk, nonfat dry milk stores easily and is available in most any market. Usually the larger sized containers are less expensive per reconstituted quart. If smaller packages are more easily stored, they may be the best buy. Nonfat dry milk is also available in premeasured packages. Dry milk is convenient and economical—and there is no waste.

HOME CARE—Keep dry milk in a tightly covered container in a dry place. Nonfat dry milk can be kept at room temperature for several months. When reconstituted, store in the refrigerator just as you would fresh milk.

RECONSTITUTION AND USE—Generally, for one cup of fluid skim milk, use 1/3 cup of nonfat dry milk to ¾ cup of water. For drinking, the flavor seems to be improved if the reconstituted milk is thoroughly chilled before serving . . . For detailed information, refer to University of Missouri Extension bulletin "Using Nonfat Dry Milk in Home Prepared Foods." This bulletin is available at your local University Extension Center.

USING NONFAT DRY MILK It is easy to measure—dissolves instantly, and may be added to many recipes in the dry form, or be reconstituted to use as a beverage or a whipped topping. It's a simple matter to measure ahead the dry ingredients of a quick bread, store in a covered container, then just before baking stir in the necessary water and other liquid ingredients.

Mashed potato—cook potatoes as usual and drain. SAVE the cooking water. Break the potatoes into very small pieces in the electric mixer. Add salt, a small amount of the hot cooking water, and sprinkle the dry milk

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Ronald A. Jackson had a problem as a paleontology major at the University of Mississippi.

The school didn't offer some of the courses he wanted. But Ole Miss is not ignoring the plight of its first student in 20 years to major in paleontology — the branch of geology which studies prehistoric life through fossils.

Next semester the university will offer instruction in taxonomic methods, vertebrate paleontology and paleobotany — all courses never before offered at Ole Miss.

Mothman Mystery Is Quiet

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — The mysterious mothman was still at large near this normally quiet Ohio River community, but the excitement he caused is dying down.

The excitement began two weeks ago when Mr. and Mrs. Roger Scarberry and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mallett, all of Point Pleasant, spotted a large white apparition flying at high speed, following their car.

They told a deputy sheriff it looked like "a flying man with 10-foot wings." They said it was about seven feet tall with large red eyes.

These reports brought curious crowds to the McClintic Wildlife Station where the incident occurred. Volunteer fire department members had to help keep traffic moving.

During the next three days at least eight persons reported various similar creatures. On Nov. 18 two volunteer firemen, Capt. Paul Yoder and Benjamin Enochs, said they saw what definitely was a very large bird with large red eyes.

Dr. Robert L. Smith, associate professor of wildlife biology at WVU, said the descriptions all fitted the sandhill crane, the second largest American crane, which stands almost as high as a man and has a wingspan of more than seven feet.

He said the "red eyes" could be the large circles of bare reddish flesh around the crane's eyes. Smith said the bird apparently had wandered out of its normal migration route.

A practical gift,
That's practically perfect

To some, a practical gift is as welcome as a rainy weekend.
To others, it's just the right answer.

Here's a practical gift, that's practically perfect:
an A&P Gift Certificate.

A handsome certificate with a mailing envelope, available in all A&P stores all year long. Offered in $5 and $10 denominations, these gift certificates will be honored in any A&P store in the United States.

When you think about it, practically anyone who buys food would welcome it.

And here's the best part—no one can ever get too many of them.
